Hungary Stages 'Walkout' in U. N. Assembly

Move Protests 'Interference' in Internal Affairs

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Hungarian delegation today walked out of the General Assembly in protest against what it called U. N. interference in Hungary's internal affairs.

The surprise move came as the 79-nation assembly debated a U. S.-sponsored move to condemn the Soviet Union for refusing to withdraw its armed forces from Hungary.

Commenting on the Hungarian walkout, U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said: "One Soviet agent the less. It would save a lot of wasted time if all the other satellites would do the same thing."

Hungarian Foreign Minister Imre Horvath led his delegation from the room after charging that some delegations, influenced by the United States, "have attempted to interfere in Hungary's domestic affairs."

"We reject these attempts and shall continue to do so in the future," he said.

Horvath said he plans to leave Wednesday for Budapest.

In his statement to the assembly, he declared that the U. N. had offended the Hungarian delegation in a way inconsistent with the honor of the Hungarian people.

"Therefore," he said, "the Hungarian delegation will not participate in the work of the General Assembly as long as the present situation continues."

Meanwhile, India and her three closest Asian allies pressed a new proposal to get Russian troops out of Hungary by sending U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to Moscow for negotiations.

Indian Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon was the prime mover behind the new plan as the 79-nation General Assembly continued its latest debate on the rebellion in Hungary.

Ceylon, Indonesia and Burma joined in urging that Hammarskjöld be sent to Budapest, and Moscow if necessary, to seek Russian withdrawal from the battered satellite.

Some Western diplomats contended the Indian resolution lacked the teeth of a U. S. resolution already before the Assembly. Backed by 17 nations, it would condemn the Soviet Union sharply for Hungary's plight.

Others thought, however, that a proposal from Asian nations Russia has been warring would gain more ground than any step by the West.

MENON REFUSED to go along with condemnation of the Reds. Instead his resolution "deplores" that the Russians have made no move to get their troops out of Hungary.

As an alternative, Menon presented a series of amendments to the 17-power proposal to bring it into line with his own resolution. The amendments would have Hammarskjöld open talks at the U. N. with both Russian and Hungarian representatives. If those failed to get results, he would be asked to visit the Russian capital to discuss a halt to Soviet intervention in Hungary.

India, Ceylon and Indonesia three weeks ago put in a resolution calling on Hungary to let U. N. observers to find out what was going on.

That resolution got nowhere except to perturb the Russians, who had counted on silence if not assent from the "neutral" Asian group on the Hungarian issue.

There was speculation that the Kremlin might now favor intervention from Asia if it provided a face-saving way out of an increasingly awkward situation.

Faced with mounting U. N. pressure to get out of Hungary, the Russians have insisted that their troops were in Budapest under the auspices of the Warsaw Pact and at the urging of the Hungarians themselves.

Acid-Blinding Case Delayed by Judge

NEW YORK (AP)—Trial of Johnny Dio, who the government contends masterminded the acid-blinding of labor writer Victor Riesel, has been postponed until next spring.

Federal Judge William B. Herlands Monday ordered adjournment of the trial until April 24 over bitter objections of defense counsel on the court's own motion for adjournment. Herlands said for the fourth delay was necessary for Dio and three others to get a fair trial. The judge said he wanted public emotions to cool.

The government took no position on adjournment.

Dulles Says Red Regime Weakens

PARIS (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today internal pressures behind the Iron Curtain may well topple Soviet communism and end the dangerous division of the globe.

He urged the foreign ministers of 15 Atlantic pact countries assembled in conference here to use every form of moral pressure to assist these forces, which he said he has good reason to believe are undermining the Soviet system.

But the secretary, in a speech optimistic and almost religious in tone, warned that the threat of internal unrest might tempt Kremlin rulers to take some risks abroad as a diversion and thereby increase the threat of war.

The American statesman declared the Soviet Communist system is deteriorating and the power of its rulers disintegrating. He said this was seen in the lessening of the power of Communist parties in the free world, in satellite unrest and in internal pressures within the Soviet Union for more liberalization, intellectual freedom, personal security and personal enjoyment.

DULLES SAID Britain and France had observed "decisions in the Middle East while the Russians flouted them in Hungary. He called this a double standard of morality.

No matter how impatient some countries might get with this situation, the secretary said, they should use restraint. Their example will increasingly grow in influence until Soviet despotism would find it impossible to go on living by standards which decent people despise, Dulles predicted.

Dulles made his speech as the NATO nations sought to close their Suez-breach alliance against new and wider Russian threats.

Russian penetration into the Middle East, on NATO's southern flank, and the ebb and flow of Hungary's fight against Soviet mastery lent special urgency to the annual session of the foreign, finance and defense ministers from the NATO nations.

New policy trends as well as decisions on the 15 countries' 1958 military programs were expected to emerge from the conference. Several ministers publicly described the meeting as "the most important" since NATO was launched in 1949.

Two main tasks confronted the Allied statesmen:

1. How to rebuild the unity and efficiency of the alliance, weakened by political squabbles and the economic crisis facing Western Europe as a result of the cut in the supply of oil from the Middle East.

2. HOW TO meet and beat the challenge of post-Stalinist Communism, with its shifting methods of force, political subversion and economic penetration on an ever widening front.

A major topic of discussion will be a proposed secret policy directive, drafted by the ministers' permanent council in Paris, which if accepted would put increased dependence on the modern weapons of warfare with a consequent reduction in manpower.

Lord Ismay, NATO secretary general, gave this explanation of the thinking:

"It is doubtful whether any Allied nation can contribute more money towards defense than it is doing now. Costs of equipment are going up by leaps and bounds while other expenses are remaining more or less static."

The issue is virtually a matter of life and death for the British. With her economy on the razor's edge of solvency, Britain no longer can pay for mass armies and is looking for ways to slash the bill.

Farmers Vote Today In Corn Referendum

Fayette County corn growers were voting Tuesday in a nationwide referendum on government agriculture policy affecting the grain, but early reports indicated moderately light balloting.

Approximately 2,300 local farmers are eligible to vote in the 10 county polling places.

To be decided is whether producers favor the establishment of a soil bank corn base or a corn acreage allotment.

Approximately 200 farmers attended an education meeting in connection with the referendum in the Farm Bureau Auditorium Monday night.

The meeting was conducted by County Extension Agent W. W. Montgomery; Mrs. Fred Shoop, office manager of the Fayette County ASC; James Brown, of Jackson, a district ASC field worker, and Walter Sollars, chairman of the State ASC Committee.

Two main tasks confronted the Allied statesmen:

Building Delay Inevitable, City School Board Advised

Attorneys Say Undecided Suit Beclouds Bonds

Bond attorneys have advised the Washington C. H. Board of Education that a delay in the city school district's $645,000 building program appears inevitable.

Just how long the board will have to postpone action on a voter-approved program for the construction of urgently needed elementary buildings and additions to present facilities is not yet known, but the board expressed hope at a meeting Monday night that the clouded picture will clear within a month.

A much longer delay is possible, however.

The Columbus legal firm of Bricker, Marburger, Evatt and Barton, employed by the city board as consultants in the issuance of bonds for the building program, advised in a letter read at the meeting that bids on all bonds be rejected and the sale of bonds be deferred until litigation over formation of city-county Citizens School Committee, now pending Probate Court, is decided.

The city board has been informed that an attempt is being made to set Jan. 24 as a final trial date for the case.

The board has advertised sale of the bonds, and bids will be opened at noon Thursday as stated in the advertisement. But the bids, if any, will be rejected as the attorneys have advised.

"THE DECISION has been taken out of our hands by the bond attorneys," W. A. Smith, superintendent of city schools, told the board after reading the letter from the legal firm, one of three top bond consultants in the state.

The attorneys pointed out that because of the Citizens Committee litigation still awaiting decision, it was their opinion that non-litigation certificates, required for sale of bonds, could not be executed.

The present litigation was brought by a group of taxpayers last May, making the city board along with five rural boards of education were in existence on Nov. 26, 1955, defendants in a suit asking creation of a Citizens Committee.

Judge John Houston, of Brown County, was assigned to hear arguments in the case which has brought a long series of demurrers, answers and other pleadings.

The city board has admitted allegations in the plaintiff's petition, thus, in effect, taking a stand with the plaintiffs rather than the defendants in the action.

THE ATTORNEYS for the city board said in the communication read Monday night:

Students Ask Dismissal of Chief in Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—Smoldering student-faculty sentiment at the Conservatory of Music here broke out Monday into a general meeting that unanimously demanded that school Administrator Fred Smith resign.

More than 500 of the school's 1,700 students roared approval of a resolution for Smith's resignation, and 40 of the 70 faculty members gave their approval in a standing vote.

The resolution called for Smith's resignation by Friday and said he "is under no circumstances acceptable to us in any capacity whatsoever."

Smith was not available for comment.

The meeting, sponsored by the student senate, considered the resolution after a four-man student committee told of grievance sessions with school trustees last week.

Constantine Spriano of Cincinnati told the students that Smith had used "coercion and intimidation to pit student against student, faculty member against faculty member, in order to satiate his appetite for complete control and dominance."

He said Smith had tried to "suppress the student committee."

The committee said it would send the resolution to the trustees as soon as possible.

'Branch College' for WCH?

The Washington C. H. Board of Education moved Monday night to investigate the possibilities of establishing an Ohio University "branch college" here—a move which would open up the possibilities of higher education to thousands of city and county high school students who might otherwise be denied such an opportunity.

Similar "branch colleges" which offer stay-at-home students the same advantages Ohio University's students enjoy on the campus, already are in successful operation in such cities as Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Zanesville, Lancaster and Ironton.

The board, after hearing an explanation of the plan from Superintendent W. A. Smith, agreed that Prof. A. C. Gubitz, Ohio University branch director, should be invited to meet with the local board to present further details on the possible organization of a branch in Washington C. H.

SMITH SAID that the board would be expected to make classroom space available as well as to provide heat, light and custodial service. Administrative personnel and clerical assistance would be provided by the college which would be reimbursed from student fees of $10 per semester hour for each course elected.

Offered on freshman and sophomore levels, the majority of courses available are in the fields of liberal arts, education and commerce, but elementary engineering courses are available along with classes in accounting, advertising, speech, physical education, business law, government, human relations and many other subjects.

The university also is offering a two-year "cadet" teaching program through the branches which leads to certification for elementary teaching.

ALL STUDENTS enrolled in the branch colleges are considered as "regular students" in the university and receive full residence credit for successful completion of courses.

Most of the teaching staff is drawn from the university faculty, although other qualified instructors are drawn from local high school faculties, industry and the professions.

Classes are held in the late afternoon and evening.

Under certain conditions a person of 21 or older may enroll even though he is not a high school graduate.

IT IS understood that a minimum of 20 students is suggested before any course is offered, but these details along with the question of whether such a program (Please Turn to Page Twelve)

Hungarian Reds To Grab Property

VIENNA (AP)—The Hungarian government announced today that property of all persons who have left Hungary since the start of the rebellion Oct. 23 will be seized by the state.

The action was announced as the government proceeded with all means, including the transporting of workers to their jobs in Russian army trucks, to smash a 48-hour general strike called by the Budapest Workers' Council.

More than 130,000 refugees, who have registered in Austria, presumably will be affected by the new government measure unless they return before March 31, 1957. This is the amnesty date previously set by the government for persons who have fled Hungary.

Janitors in Hungary were ordered to report within three days the names of all persons who have left their homes. Authorities then will make an inventory of all property left there.

The action came as thousands of workers launched another protest strike in defiance of the Russian-dominated government of Premier Janos Kadar.

Transportation Budapest was badly crippled, but the work stoppage did not appear to be 100 per cent effective. Some business activity apparently was continuing under the pressure of g s of the Hungarian police and Soviet troops.

But many workers either did not report to their factories or sat idle when they reached their posts.

The call to strike for 48 hours beginning at midnight was issued by the Budapest Central Workers Council to protest the "anti-peoples anti-workers activities" of the government.

It was not immediately known how effective the strike appeal had proved in the provinces, although there were reports that stoppages had started Monday in some outlying towns.

The government again clamped down with a partial blackout on long distance telephone service outside the country.

THE KADAR government replied to the general strike call with new repressive measures, including a decree of martial law, the arrests of some worker leaders and a decree dissolving the Central Workers' Council and its regional bodies.

Refugees crossing into Austria from Hungary said the strike appeared to be spreading over the country despite martial law and possible Soviet reprisals.

Austrian railway workers returning from the Hungarian border station of Hegyeshalom reported that work in that town was at a complete standstill.

Baldrige Takes Stand In Patrick Damage Case

Taking of evidence in the $150,000 damage action brought by Marie Patrick, executrix, against George S. Baldrige, seemed to be drawing near the end when court recessed at noon Tuesday, after more than a week of testimony before Judge Ferd Bader, Hamilton County, and a jury.

Much of the forenoon session was taken up with the defendant on the stand.

Since the case started, Baldrige, who is serving a one-to-20 year term in the penitentiary for the shotgun slaying of the plaintiff's husband, Game Protector Irvin J. Patrick, on Nov. 15, 1955, has been spending the time in the county jail here when he has not been in the court room, and a deputy sheriff has been in charge of him every minute he is in the Courthouse.

The present action grew out of the killing of Patrick, and was filed by his widow for the benefit of herself and her three small children.

LESS than a dozen spectators were present when the case opened Tuesday morning, and the plaintiff, showing the strain of the long hearing and with her head bowed part of the time when the details of the death of her husband were recounted on the stand, had her usual place back of her counsel, Ray W. Davis of Circleville.

Baldrige's attorney, Vernon Young, has conducted all direct examinations of witnesses, although his father Judge F. S. Young, of Seaman, and W. S. Paxson, of this city, are present at all times.

Mrs. Baldrige has been a constant spectator during the hearing.

W. R. ALLEN, farmer, residing on the Prairie Rd., was the first defense witness at the morning session, which opened at 9:44 a. m. He said that Patrick had searched his premises the morning of the shooting, and said he found nothing.

His testimony was such that upon motion of the plaintiff's counsel, all of his testimony was stricken out as irrelevant, and Judge Bader instructed the jury to disregard it in its entirety. He was dismissed.

Harold Wilson, West Union, deputy sheriff for four years, was examined briefly about what he had heard Jack Kamman, a game protector with Patrick at the time of the shooting, say the morning after the occurrence.

He quoted Kamman as saying he did not know exactly what happened.

He was dismissed without cross examination.

NEXT CALL was for Robert Wilmoth, who could not be found, so Baldrige himself was called to the stand, and examined by Vernon Young.

His testimony in effect was: He had lived in Fayette County 14 years. Was sheriff of Adams County six years. Clerk in Wayne Township, Adams County, three years.

He knew Patrick who had come to his farm upon numerous occasions in connection with his work. His (Baldrige's) memory was "not like it used to be."

He said the car driven by Robert Butler, Baldrige's nephew, the morning of Nov. 15, 1955, had been parked about 35 feet "below the hill top" and 175 feet from the culvert shown in one of the photographs admitted in evidence.

Baldrige's automatic shotgun was not working right. When he swung up to shoot a pheasant the gun went off when he had his finger against the safety. He shot a hen pheasant, Donald Butler, another nephew, took it.

PATRICK "acted about the same as he usually did", Baldrige said, when he and Kamman reached the hunting party. Patrick went to a ditch and got two hen pheasants, which the party had killed, placed them in his car, with Donald Butler's gun, and Butler got into Patrick's car.

He could not recall definitely what was said "between Patrick and himself. He did recall saying something about 'too bad Donald could not hunt', and he offered to take blame for killing the two hen pheasants. Patrick told him he would take him in for interfering with an officer if he said anything further.

Baldrige said the Butler car was 200 to 250 feet from the culvert in the lane. The defense has endeav-

200 Refugees Head for U. S.

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Two hundred fugitives from Communist oppression in Hungary took off today for new lives in the United States at the start of one of history's most spectacular airlifts.

The group was the first of 10,000 refugees to be flown before Christmas to the United States in giant Air Force transports.

There were some tears but many more smiles as the fugitives, many of whom had never before left their homeland, departed across the ocean for a new land with little idea of what was in store for them.

Four planes took off today, carrying 50 women, 41 children and 109 men. They ranged in age from 6-month-old Johanna Toth to 57-year-old Etel Szabo.

The flight was to take 26 hours to McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey.

FROM McGuire the refugees were to be taken to specially prepared army barracks at nearby Camp Kilmer. Some hoped relatives, whom they had not seen or heard from in years, would help them find jobs. Others could trust only in a warm-hearted American response.

By the weekend, the schedule calls for 500 refugees to depart daily from the U. S. air base in Munich. The military transports are operating from West Germany rather than Austria to avoid any Soviet complaint that Austrian neutrality is being violated.

Some 125,000 refugees have crossed from Hungary to Austria in little more than six weeks.

The United States has offered homes to 21,500 refugees. Only about 3,000 have been flown across the Atlantic so far in civilian planes chartered by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, an international agency.

Western European countries have taken more than 45,000 refugees, but are approaching the limit they can absorb.

MIDDLETOWN (AP)—David Collins, 9, died in his sleep Monday, surrounded with Christmas toys.

A victim of leukemia, the boy, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Kerne Collins, asked for an early Christmas a few weeks ago. When the Middletown Journal printed a story of the boy's desires, presents poured into the home.

The newspaper learned about David's illness from a hospital report showing that he had received 26 blood transfusions.

Honorable Discharge Given Air Officer during Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has decided to give an honorable discharge to Lt. Titus A. Saunders, a reserve officer stationed at Lockbourne, Ohio, who resigned amid disagreement over a 1954 conviction on a drunken driving charge.

When Saunders chose to resign on Nov. 27, the Air Force said he would be given a general discharge. That connotes honorable conditions, but it is less desirable than an honorable discharge.

Secretary of the Air Force Quarles announced late Monday that Saunders, a Negro, is being given an honorable discharge following study of his case by a discharge review board.

Saunders has said the Air Force was pressured by Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) to get rid of him—a contention disputed by Stennis and the Air Force. At his home in De Kalb, Miss., Stennis said he had no comment on the new action.

The Air Force has maintained it followed normal procedure in telling Saunders he had to resign or be dropped from the service because of his conviction on a drunken driving charge in Mississippi.

While he was appealing his conviction, Saunders was transferred from Mississippi to Ohio. Mississippi sought unsuccessfully to extradite him to serve a six-month jail term after the state supreme court rejected his appeal.

Saunders' resignation took effect Dec. 1. His tour of duty would have expired next July.

While he denies that he applied "pressure" to the Air Force to drop Saunders, Stennis said at the time of the Negro officer's resignation that he had written top Pentagon officials about the case.

He said he had called on them "to take action with reference to keeping an officer who was in default of his bond."

Stennis said he also had told defense and Air Force chiefs that the sworn record shows "excessive use of profanity" at the time of Saunders' arrest, in the presence of witnesses including a woman acquaintance of the senator.

Stennis said he had asked what would be done about "this conduct unbecoming to an officer."

Board of Education moved Monday night to investigate the possibilities of establishing an Ohio University "branch college" here—a move which would open up the possibilities of higher education to thousands of city and county high school students who might otherwise be denied such an opportunity.

Similar "branch colleges" which offer stay-at-home students the same advantages Ohio University's students enjoy on the campus, already are in successful operation in such cities as Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Zanesville, Lancaster and Ironton.

The board, after hearing an explanation of the plan from Superintendent W. A. Smith, agreed that Prof. A. C. Gubitz, Ohio University branch director, should be invited to meet with the local board to present further details on the possible organization of a branch in Washington C. H.

SMITH SAID that the board would be expected to make classroom space available as well as to

Poland Sees New Outbreak

WARSAW (AP)—A wild anti-Russian demonstration was reported today from the big Polish port city of Stettin. Demonstrators marched on the Soviet consulate, smashed windows and tried to break in.

Communist authorities finally called in troops and "workers' militia"—club-wielding strongarm men—to disperse the crowd.

Official reports blamed the outbreak on "drunken hooligans." But reliable sources in Stettin said it was the outcome of a planned demonstration by students and young factory workers against events in Hungary.

The demonstration started early Monday night and continued until midnight. Government papers reported several policemen were beaten up and a number of demonstrators arrested.

Stettin, on the Oder River estuary 80 miles northeast of Berlin, reportedly was the scene of shooting between Polish and Soviet troops during Poland's "October revolution" which culminated in Moscow's grant of considerable independence to the government of nationalist Communist Wladyslaw Gomulka.

THE WARSAW paper Zycie Warszawy said the riot started "when a gang of adventurers attacked and beat up a policeman who was escorting a troublesome drunkard." The paper reported:

"Some of the demonstrators managed to get through to the Soviet consulate, where they smashed windows and tried to enter the premises."

"These outbursts were ended by the city committee of the Polish United Workers' (Communist) party, who called in the Stettin dockers, students and soldiers of local military units."

AWOL GI Admits Setting Church Fire

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—A strapping 6 feet 2, 18-year-old AWOL soldier who "got mad" when he failed to pry open poor boxes, has admitted setting three church fires including the million dollar blaze that destroyed St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church in Cambridge Saturday.

Pvt. Robert Whelan of nearby Somerville, former pupil at St. John's parochial school, was quoted by police as saying he touched off the fire early Saturday by holding a big vigil candle to candles, surplices and other clothing in the sacristy.

Cleveland Homicide Total Hits Record

CLEVELAND (AP)—The total number of homicides in Cleveland this year rose to 105 Monday night, matching the all-time record of 1952.

The 105th victim was John Sanders, 35, who died in St. Vincent Charity Hospital of a bullet wound in the head. He was shot in front of a tavern early Sunday.

provide heat, light and custodial service. Administrative personnel and clerical assistance would be provided by the college which would be reimbursed from student fees of $10 per semester hour for each course elected.

Offered on freshman and sophomore levels, the majority of courses available are in the fields of liberal arts, education and commerce, but elementary engineering courses are available along with classes in accounting, advertising, speech, physical education, business law, government, human relations and many other subjects.

The university also is offering a two-year "cadet" teaching program through the branches which leads to certification for elementary teaching.

ALL STUDENTS enrolled in the branch colleges are considered as "regular students" in the university and receive full residence credit for successful completion of courses.

Most of the teaching staff is drawn from the university faculty, although other qualified instructors are drawn from local high school faculties, industry and the professions.

Classes are held in the late afternoon and evening. Under certain conditions a person of 21 or older may enroll even though he is not a high school graduate.

IT IS understood that a minimum of 20 students is suggested before any course is offered, but these details along with the question of whether such a program (Please Turn to Page Twelve)

200 Refugees Head for U. S.

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Two hundred fugitives from Communist oppression in Hungary took off today for new lives in the United States at the start of one of history's most spectacular airlifts.

The group was the first of 10,000 refugees to be flown before Christmas to the United States in giant Air Force transports.

There were some tears but many more smiles as the fugitives, many of whom had never before left their homeland, departed across the ocean for a new land with little idea of what was in store for them.

Four planes took off today, carrying 50 women, 41 children and 109 men. They ranged in age from 6-month-old Johanna Toth to 57-year-old Ete Szabo.

The flight was to take 26 hours to McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey.

FROM MCGUIRE the refugees were to be taken to specially prepared army barracks at nearby Camp Kilmer. Some hoped relatives, whom they had not seen or heard from in years, would help them find jobs. Others could trust only in a warm-hearted American response.

By the weekend, the schedule calls for 500 refugees to depart daily from the U. S. air base in Munich. The military transports are operating from West Germany rather than Austria to avoid any Soviet complaint that Austrian neutrality is being violated.

Some 125,000 refugees have crossed from Hungary to Austria in little more than six weeks.

The United States has offered homes to 21,500 refugees. Only about 3,000 have been flown across the Atlantic so far in civilian planes chartered by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, an international agency.

Western European countries have taken more than 45,000 refugees, but are approaching the limit they can absorb.

Early Christmas Comes; Boy Dies

MIDDLETOWN (AP)—David Collins, 9, died in his sleep Monday, surrounded with Christmas toys.

A victim of leukemia, the boy, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Kerrie Collins, asked for an early Christmas a few weeks ago. When the Middletown Journal printed a story of the boy's desires, presents poured into the home.

The newspaper learned about David's illness from a hospital report showing that he had received 26 blood transfusions.

Police Officer Resigns; Cites Cost of Living

Patrolman Sanderson Leaves Force for Pennington Sales Job

Patrolman Kenneth Sanderson has resigned from the Washington C. H. police force, effective Dec. 9.

His resignation, addressed to City Manager James P. Parkinson and Police Chief Vaideen Long, said that due to the cost of living he was resigning to accept a higher salaried position. He added that he had enjoyed his association with the police department.

Chief Long recommended acceptance of the resignation and the city manager officially accepted it, effective on the date received.

Sanderson, who has been on the force two years, started Monday as a salesman for Pennington Bread, Inc.

AN EXAMINATION for patrolmen was held about two months ago by the Civil Service Commission, and Chief Long said the eligibility list made up of the first for the selection of Sanderson's successor. However, he added that since the lists made up by the Civil Service Commission change frequently, it may be necessary to hold another examination.

Sanderson's resignation reduces the force to 10 men, including the chief.

Patrolmen start here at $27 a month. If they meet the requirements during their 90-day probationary period, they get $310 a month, plus a $100 a year uniform allowance.

Dayton Defendant To Testify again

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Lee Bryant, 46, is expected to be recalled to the stand today for cross-examination as his first degree murder trial enters its seventh day.

Bryant testified Monday that he fatally shot Thomas Barner, 26, in self defense. He said Barner attacked him in the rear of the Hi Lee Tavern here.

Bryant testified he became enraged at Barner and his friend, Donald E. Straitiff, 29, because they ridiculed his physical appearance and called him filthy names. Bryant lost his hair and left arm in a fire 25 years ago.

Prosecuting attorneys have contended Bryant shot Barner, mistaking him for Straitiff. Bryant had argued earlier with Straitiff over a $10 baseball bet, they claim.

Hunt Continues For Lost Airliner

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Ground search parties prepared today to enter the rugged Mt. Silverpit area about 125 miles east of here to look for a Trans-Canadian airliner missing with 62 occupants since Sunday night. Eight of the 59 passengers were Americans.

Search leaders said their "most promising lead" was a report of a "big blast" in the vicinity of a 8,550-foot Mt. Silverpit. The report came from nine persons who were at a ski lodge in the area.

The plane had taken off from Vancouver for Calgary and points east about an hour before the pilot reported the inboard motor on the left side had failed and he was turning back to Vancouver, some 100 miles away.

Baldrige on Stand; Testimony Nearing Close

ored time after time to spot the Butler car exactly.

He "hollered for Patrick to get out of the field" and had his shot-gun cradled in his arm when Patrick drove up and stopped in the lane.

"You did not find anything, did you?" he said he asked Patrick, and then said "please do not take Donald in," after which Patrick stepped from car and said "let's talk this over."

BALDRIDGE SAID he had not pointed his gun at the car, and had made no threats, and he added that Patrick after stepping out, grabbed the gun near the muzzle with his left hand, then grabbed it near the muzzle with his right hand, then grabbed it near the muzzle with his right hand, and in a few seconds Baldrige heard the gun explode. He did not know whether Patrick was wounded until later. With Young's help he demonstrated how he said he was holding the gun and what happened when Patrick grabbed it.

Baldrige said he did not point the gun at the officers and made no threatening remarks.

"I hardly knew what to do, and was scared. The only time in my life I was ever really scared," Baldrige said in connection with the shooting.

He said he backed up the road, warned Kamman not to get a gun out of the car. He never looked at Patrick after Kamman went to the car. He demonstrated with the gun how he held it in readiness to shoot when he warned Kamman. He said he noticed the empty shell was sticking out of the gun at the point of ejection.

When a neighbor, Craig, appeared, and said something to him about the game warden letting two men out on the Craig premises, he said he told him "one of them got shot."

BALDRIDGE told of coming to this city and giving his gun to Sheriff Orland Hays. He knew there was a gun in Patrick's car because he had looked inside when Patrick drove up, he stated.

The gate was wired back and he was not "too near it" at any time, he said.

Toward the conclusion of the direct examination Baldrige stated: He saw Kamman writing on a pad when he went up to the car just before the shooting. He had had trouble with the safety on his shotgun. He did not point the gun at anyone. He did not pull the trigger. The trigger was not pulled at the time of the explosion.

If the trigger was pulled he did not know who pulled it. Patrick was pulling the gun toward himself. He did not order Patrick not to take the prisoner. He did not obstruct the officer in the execution of his duties. He did not fire the gun at Patrick intentionally.

PLAINTIFF'S Attorney Ray W. Davis then cross-examined Baldrige.

The defendant said that he had known Patrick since about 1947, he had seen Patrick before, and he was friends with Patrick "to a certain extent."

Baldrige insisted that possession of a hen pheasant is not illegal. When asked by Davis if he knew that having a hen pheasant is illegal, he answered that he didn't know it then, "and I still don't know it."

"If it's destroying your crops,

you have a right to kill it," the defendant maintained.

Baldrige said he intended to eat the bird. Davis asked him if he was sure of the law, and he said, "It's been handed down from the court of appeals."

JUDGE BADER upheld an objection by Young, putting a stop to the discussion of game laws. Baldrige said that when Patrick arrived on his farm, they shook hands and he introduced the game warden to everyone.

The defendant said that Patrick acted like he always had, although his attitude changed later on.

Baldrige admitted having chided Patrick for coming so quickly, when, according to the defendant, Patrick had not been easy to contact when he wanted to report illegal squirrel hunting.

Baldrige insisted that he wasn't mad when he yelled at Patrick — Baldrige referred to him as "Pat" — to get his car out of the field.

HE SAID he then walked away, and Patrick called "Let's talk this over, George," in a different tone of voice.

Baldrige said that following the incident, he didn't know that Patrick had been hurt, and didn't find out until he got to Washington C. H.

He said he had walked 100 feet or more from Patrick's car, and didn't look back.

He said he gave his gun to Mary Butler, after shooting at Kamman. Court was recessed until 1:15 p. m., with Baldrige still on the stand.

MRS. MARY BUTLER was still on the stand when court reconvened at 1:40 p. m. Monday afternoon.

She was the third defense witness, and cross examination by plaintiff's attorney, Ray W. Davis, of Circleville, got under way at once.

The witness reiterated that she heard Patrick tell Baldrige after some argument over the arrest of Donald Butler that "if you say another word I will take that gun away from you and take you in, too."

She stated she would not say that Baldrige was "pretty angry," and said Patrick "went about his duties." She did not know whether Patrick had seen a bottle carried by one member of the party.

REGARDING her statement that (after the shooting when she ran to the scene from her car parked some distance away) Baldrige had said "Get out of the way, you might get shot," Davis recalled that she had left off "you might get shot" in her testimony in the criminal case.

She said she did not know what had happened when she ran to the scene, and Baldrige did not say what had happened, or the subject was not discussed enroute to Baldrige's home.

She said she did not hear Patrick calling for help.

ROBERT BUTLER, of Williamsburg, nephew of Baldrige and a member of the hunting party was next examined by Vernon Young, defense attorney.

He reiterated much of the testimony related by others up to the actual shooting of Patrick, saying that "Uncle George" had asked Patrick twice not to take Donald Butler in for punishment, but to let him hunt.

After Patrick had searched his

(Butler's) car he said the game warden bowed and said "Thank you."

After the search of the car was made and Patrick and Kamman started on with their prisoner, Donald Butler, the witness said he heard Baldrige tell Patrick to "get that car out of the field."

BUTLER ALSO testified: He said he could see Baldrige crossing the lane toward the line fence, and did not see Baldrige raise his hand.

He did not see Baldrige near the gate, which he said was swung back. He did not hear anything said at that time, but when the Patrick car halted, Baldrige was facing the car, and had the shot-gun "cradled in his arm." He demonstrated how the gun was held.

Patrick "rolled out of the car, and the door went shut," he said, and then Baldrige had his back toward the witness.

He stated that he saw Patrick grab the muzzle of the gun with his left hand and pulled the gun down. He then heard a muffled shot, he stated. He estimated four seconds had elapsed between the time Patrick "grabbed the barrel of the gun" and the time the shot was fired.

He said Patrick fell to the ground, and Baldrige turned, facing the car, and soon started backing away. He saw Patrick "digging with his right hand to get his gun," trying several times but never getting it. Baldrige kept backing up the lane.

KAMMAN, he said, reached with his right hand over the back seat of the car, and he heard Baldrige tell Kamman not to come out of the car with a gun.

About this time he heard his wife say "don't do that," and she took Baldrige's gun and handed it to the witness.

Butler said the gun had two shells in the magazine, no shell in the chamber, and he had observed when Baldrige was backing up that an empty shell was sticking out of the gun. He said the shell was not in it when the gun was given to him.

He did not overhear the conversation between Baldrige and Craig regarding the game warden.

"George was very nervous and scared after the shooting," he stated. He did not hear Baldrige threaten Patrick, and said there was nothing in the way to prevent Patrick and Kamman from driving out with their prisoner.

UNDER cross examination by Attorney Ray Davis, Butler said Baldrige did not cross over in front of the Patrick car to Patrick's side of the car, but Baldrige stood facing the car, and when

Patrick got out, Baldrige had his back toward the witness.

Taking up the death weapon owned by Baldrige, Davis demonstrated, holding the gun cradled in his left arm, and asked Butler to show him how Patrick had grabbed the gun and pulled it down.

Butler grabbed the barrel, and Butler tried to pull the gun muzzle down, but it remained firm in Davis arms.

"You are holding it," said Butler.

"Baldrige had hold of it too, didn't he," Davis asked.

Butler then admitted he could see only the end of the gun barrel when Baldrige had his back to him.

THE WITNESS said he had warned Donald Butler to "duck with the birds" when Patrick and Kamman halted at the gate.

He said Baldrige asked Patrick, in a normal tone, not to take Donald in.

He said he did not hear Baldrige say "You are not going to take him."

Then he testified that he saw Kamman reach with his left hand, into the back seat, and was reminded by Davis that he had testified a short time before that Kamman reached with his right hand.

Testifying further under cross examination he said he saw the gun start down when Patrick had hold of it, but could not see further. He could recall no conversation in the car as they drove to Baldrige's home with Baldrige in the car. He said he "knew someone was injured, and apparently Patrick was."

UNDER REDIRECT examination he said he knew there were guns in the Patrick car because he had seen them. He was excused subject to recall.

Daniel Burchard Butler, 78, Seaman, retired, brother-in-law of George Baldrige was next called. After being questioned by Davis he said he started out across the field to continue hunting. He had heard Baldrige and Patrick discussing who killed the hen pheasant.

Fayette County Seal Returns Still Lagging

This year's sale of Christmas Seals is lagging behind that of last year and the executive committee of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. is growing concerned.

Proceeds from the Christmas Seal sale are used by the association, an affiliate of a nationwide organization, to finance the fight against tuberculosis and support the overall campaign for better health.

With Christmas only a little more than two weeks away, returns from the seals to date amount to $2,338.61 as compared with $2,818.45 for the same period last year.

Letters containing 3 million Christmas Seals were sent to individuals, clubs and organizations last month. At the start of this week, returns had been received from 1,739 of the mailings. Last year at this time, Mrs. Jan Stephenson, executive secretary of the association said, contributions had been received from more than 2,000.

A REMINDER to "Buy and use Christmas Seals on every letter, on every package" and to "fight tuberculosis" with Christmas Seals is now going out to all those from whom no replies have been received.

Meanwhile, a display showing how Christmas Seals may be utilized has been placed in the Economy Savings and Loan Co. office window. It was designed by Miss Frances White, a former president of the association, and Miss Helen Slavens.

And, at the Carnegie Public Library there is another display. It was arranged with the cooperation of Mrs. Florence Cook, acting librarian.

At this juncture, after a conference between the attorneys and Judge Ford Bader, who is sitting by assignment in the case, court recessed at 3:30 p. m. until 9:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Baldrige on Stand; Testimony Nearing Close

ored time after time to spot the Butler car exactly.

He "hollered for Patrick to get out of the field" and had his shotgun cradled in his arm when Patrick drove up and stopped in the lane.

"You did not find anything, did you?" he said he asked Patrick, and then said "please do not take Donald in," after which Patrick stepped from car and said "let's talk this over."

BALDRIDGE SAID he had not pointed his gun at the car, and had made no threats, and he added that Patrick after stepping out, grabbed the gun near the muzzle with his left hand, then grabbed it near the muzzle with his right hand, and in a few seconds Baldrige heard the gun explode. He did not know whether Patrick was wounded until later.

With Young's help he demonstrated how he said he was holding the gun and what happened when Patrick grabbed it.

Baldrige said he did not point the gun at the officers and made no threatening remarks.

"I hardly knew what to do, and was scared. The only time in my life I was ever really scared," Baldrige said in connection with the shooting.

He said he backed up the road, warned Kamman not to get a gun out of the car. He never looked at Patrick after Kamman went to the car. He demonstrated with the gun how he held it in readiness to shoot when he warned Kamman. He said he noticed the empty shell was sticking out of the gun at the point of ejection.

When a neighbor, Craig, appeared, and said something to him about the game warden letting two men out on the Craig premises, he said he told him "one of them got shot."

BALDRIDGE told of coming to this city and giving his gun to Sheriff Orland Hays. He knew there was a gun in Patrick's car because he had looked inside when Patrick drove up, he stated.

The gate was wired back and he was not "too near it" at any time, he said.

Toward the conclusion of the direct examination Baldrige stated:

He saw Kamman writing on a pad when he went up to the car just before the shooting. He had had trouble with the safety on his shotgun. He did not point the gun at anyone. He did not pull the trigger. The trigger was not pulled at the time of the explosion.

If the trigger was pulled he did not know who pulled it. Patrick was pulling the gun toward himself. He did not order Patrick not to take the prisoner. He did not obstruct the officer in the execution of his duties. He did not fire the gun at Patrick intentionally.

PLAINTIFF'S Attorney Ray W. Davis then cross-examined Baldrige.

The defendant said that he had known Patrick since about 1947, he had seen Patrick before, and he was friends with Patrick "to a certain extent."

Baldrige insisted that possession of a hen pheasant is not illegal. When asked by Davis if he knew that having a hen pheasant is illegal, he answered that he didn't know it then, "and I still don't know it."

"If it's destroying your crops,

you have a right to kill it," the defendant maintained.

Baldrige said he intended to eat the bird. Davis asked him if he was sure of the law, and he said, "It's been handed down from the court of appeals."

JUDGE BADER upheld an objection by Young, putting a stop to the discussion of game laws.

Baldrige said that when Patrick arrived on his farm, they shook hands and he introduced the game warden to everyone.

The defendant said that Patrick acted like he always had, although his attitude changed later on.

Baldrige admitted having chided Patrick for coming so quickly, when, according to the defendant, Patrick had not been easy to contact when he wanted to report illegal squirrel hunting.

Baldrige insisted that he wasn't mad when he yelled at Patrick — Baldrige referred to him as "Pat" — to get his car out of the field.

HE SAID he then walked away, and Patrick called "Let's talk this over, George," in a different tone of voice.

Baldrige said that following the incident, he didn't know that Patrick had been hurt, and didn't find out until he got to Washington C. H.

He said he had walked 100 feet or more from Patrick's car, and didn't look back.

He said he gave his gun to Mary Butler, after shooting at Kamman.

Court was recessed until 1:15 p. m., with Baldrige still on the stand.

MRS. MARY BUTLER was still on the stand when court reconvened at 1:40 p. m. Monday afternoon.

She was the third defense witness, and cross examination by plaintiff's attorney, Ray W. Davis, of Circleville, got under way at once.

The witness reiterated that she heard Patrick tell Baldrige after some argument over the arrest of Donald Butler that "If you say another word I will take that gun away from you and take you in, too."

She stated she would not say that Baldrige was "pretty angry," and said Patrick "went about his duties." She did not know whether Patrick had seen a bottle carried by one member of the party.

REGARDING her statement that (after the shooting when she ran to the scene from her car parked some distance away) Baldrige had said "Get out of the way, you might get shot," Davis recalled that she had left off "you might get shot" in her testimony in the criminal case.

She said she did not know what had happened when she ran to the scene, and Baldrige did not say what had happened, or the subject was not discussed enroute to Baldrige's home.

She said she did not hear Patrick calling for help.

ROBERT BUTLER, of Williamsburg, nephew of Baldrige and a member of the hunting party was next examined by Vernon Young, defense attorney.

He reiterated much of the testimony related by others up to the actual shooting of Patrick, saying that "Uncle George" had asked Patrick twice not to take Donald Butler in for punishment, but to let him hunt.

After Patrick had searched his

(Butler's) car he said the game warden bowed and said "Thank you."

After the search of the car was made and Patrick and Kamman started on with their prisoner, Donald Butler, the witness said he heard Baldrige tell Patrick to "get that car out of the field."

BUTLER ALSO testified: He said he could see Baldrige crossing the lane toward the line fence, and did not see Baldrige raise his hand.

He did not see Baldrige near the gate, which he said was swung back. He did not hear anything said at that time, but when the Patrick car halted, Baldrige was facing the car, and had the shotgun "cradled in his arm." He demonstrated how the gun was held.

Patrick "rolled out of the car, and the door went shut," he said, and then Baldrige had his back toward the witness.

He stated that he saw Patrick grab the muzzle of the gun with his left hand and pulled the gun down. He then heard a muffled shot, he stated. He estimated four seconds had elapsed between the time Patrick "grabbed the barrel of the gun" and the time the shot was fired.

He said Patrick fell to the ground, and Baldrige turned, facing the car, and soon started backing away. He saw Patrick "digging with his right hand to get his gun," trying several times but never getting it. Baldrige kept backing up the lane.

KAMMAN, he said, reached with his right hand over the back seat of the car, and he heard Baldrige tell Kamman not to come out of the car with a gun.

About this time he heard his wife say "don't do that," and she took Baldrige's gun and handed it to the witness.

Butler said the gun had two shells in the magazine, no shell in the chamber, and he had observed when Baldrige was backing up that an empty shell was sticking out of the gun. He said the shell was not in it when the gun was given to him.

He did not overhear the conversation between Baldrige and Craig regarding the game warden.

"George was very nervous and scared after the shooting," he stated. He did not hear Baldrige threaten Patrick, and said there was nothing in the way to prevent Patrick and Kamman from driving out with their prisoner.

UNDER cross examination by Attorney Ray Davis, Butler said Baldrige did not cross over in front of the Patrick car to Patrick's side of the car, but Baldrige stood facing the car, and when

Patrick got out, Baldrige had his back toward the witness.

Taking up the death weapon owned by Baldrige, Davis demonstrated, holding the gun cradled in his left arm, and asked Butler to show him how Patrick had grabbed the gun and pulled it down.

Butler grabbed the barrel, and Butler tried to pull the gun muzzle down, but it remained firm in Davis arms.

"You are holding it," said Butler.

"Baldrige had hold of it too, didn't he," Davis asked.

Butler then admitted he could see only the end of the gun barrel when Baldrige had his back to him.

THE WITNESS said he had warned Donald Butler to "duck with the birds" when Patrick and Kamman halted at the gate.

He said Baldrige asked Patrick, in a normal tone, not to take Donald in.

He said he did not hear Baldrige say "You are not going to take him."

Then he testified that he saw Kamman reach with his left hand, into the back seat, and was reminded by Davis that he had testified a short time before that Kamman reached with his right hand.

Testifying further under cross examination he said he saw the gun start down when Patrick had hold of it, but could not see further.

He could recall no conversation in the car as they drove to Baldrige's home with Baldrige in the car. He said he "knew someone was injured, and apparently Patrick was."

UNDER REDIRECT examination he said he knew there were guns in the Patrick car because he had seen them. He was excused subject to recall.

Daniel Burchard Butler, 78, Seaman, retired, brother-in-law of George Baldrige was next called.

After being questioned by Davis he said he started out across the field to continue hunting. He had heard Baldrige and Patrick discussing who killed the hen pheas-

Fayette County Seal Returns Still Lagging

This year's sale of Christmas Seals is lagging behind that of last year and the executive committee of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. is growing concerned.

Proceeds from the Christmas Seal sale are used by the association, an affiliate of a nationwide organization, to finance the fight against tuberculosis and support the overall campaign for better health.

With Christmas only a little more than two weeks away, returns from the seals to date amount to $2,338.61 as compared with $2,818.45 for the same period last year.

Letters containing 3 million Christmas Seals were sent to individuals, clubs and organizations last month. At the start of this week, returns had been received from 1,739 of the mailings. Last year at this time, Mrs. Jan Stephenson, executive secretary of the association said, contributions had been received from more than 2,000.

A REMINDER to "Buy and use Christmas Seals on every letter, on every package" and to "fight tuberculosis" with Christmas Seals is now going out to all those from whom no replies have been received.

Meanwhile, a display showing how Christmas Seals may be utilized has been placed in the Economy Savings and Loan Co. office window. It was designed by Miss Frances White, a former president ants, and heard Baldrige tell Patrick he had killed them. He could not recall anything Patrick said. He was excused.

At this juncture, after a conference between the attorneys and Judge Ferd Bader, who is sitting by assignment in the case, court recessed at 3:30 p. m. until 9:30 a. m. Tuesday.

'I Love Presley' Buttons Don't Sell

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It can cost more to have Elvis Presley than to love him here. A downtown stand sells "I love Elvis" buttons for 15 cents. "I love Elvis" emblems cost only a dime. The vendor says he had to cut the price of the "love" buttons because they weren't selling.

Cardinal Warns U. S.: Be Alert

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The United States, says Francis Cardinal Spellman, "may get only 60 minutes warning if war comes."

The Archbishop of New York, arriving by plane Monday from the Far East, declared:

"The slaughtering of people in Hungary should give Americans the firm, definite impression that we must be alert."

The cardinal represented Pope Pius XII at the National Eucharistic Congress at Manila and then visited American servicemen in Okinawa and Japan.

Jamaican Leader Studies Fayette Farm Methods

Methods used by Fayette County farmers and the Agricultural Extension Service here will soon be employed in Jamaica, British West Indies, according to Alan St. Aubyn Isaacs who has come from that country to study American ways.

Isaacs, director of training for the Agricultural Extension Service in Jamaica, arrived in Washington C. H. Monday to spend four days studying such things as program projection, the long-range planning program which is now being started in this county.

The Jamaican agriculturalist is spending six months in the United States on a fellowship from the International Cooperation Organization, a division of the State Department, and has chosen Fayette County as one of the areas for study.

Isaacs is here to observe the organization and administration of Agricultural Extension services and to see what techniques and methods he can take home to help him in his work. His job is to train people for 4-H, agricultural advisory, home economics, cooperative and agricultural credit work.

THE JAMAICAN service employs about 1,000 people in a country of one and a half million people, in contrast with the State of Ohio, which has 8 million citizens and only 300 in extension work. The difference is twofold: Jamaican farms are smaller, and thus there are more farmers per acre; and their farms are not as modern as here.

Isaacs, who hopes to instill a common philosophy in all the branches of his service, arrived in Washington D. C. on Oct. 28 on the first leg of his tour. He spent three weeks studying the ways of the Department of Agriculture in the nation's capital.

He has also spent some time at Ohio State University and in Tuscarawas County prior to coming to Fayette County.

While here, Isaacs will be escorted by W. W. Montgomery, county extension agent, and will visit the Rotary Club Tuesday, a number of outstanding area farms, and various groups in action.

Monday night he was at the corn referendum meeting.

Union Not Penalized For Officer's Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has ruled unanimously that unions may not be deprived of benefits under the Taft-Hartley Labor Act because one of their officers files a false non-Communist affidavit.

Justice Douglas delivered the opinion which held that the only penalty provided is a fine and prison sentence for the union officer.

Speaking for the entire court, Douglas said there was "no indication that Congress meant to impose on a union the drastic penalty of decompensation because its officers had deceived the union as well as the board by filing a false affidavit."

county is one of the first to have started such a program.

Enthusiastic about his trip he said:

"I have found everyone hospitable and cooperative. I have benefitted enormously from this tour. If I went home today, this trip will have been worthwhile."

However, he will not go home until April 30.

He will be in Ohio until February, and will then visit Michigan and Cornell universities, as well as Canada. The tour ends with another stop at Washington and two weeks in Puerto Rico.

Isaacs is studying community development and adult education as well as his agricultural work.

THE VISITOR, who has been in extension work for 12 years and in his present job for a year, explained that the Jamaican service is similar to Ohio's.

However, speaking in a pleasant clipped British accent, he remarked that he is amazed to see how well farmers participate in extension work here.

He noted that the American farmer seems to do his own planning, with help from the extension service, rather than having the service plan for him; an ideal relationship.

The Jamaican also was impressed with the integration among the various services, the researchers and the farmers here.

In Jamaica, he explained, researchers have difficulty talking to farmers, and their technical words must be simplified by the Extension Service before they can be understood. However, Isaacs said, here farmers and researchers have no trouble understanding each other.

He said, that with modern machinery, farming is becoming an industrial enterprise. "But there is still much room for the family farm," he said. "It will grow bigger, and some will get out of farming or become part-time farmers."

Said Isaacs: "Farming is a way of life for many. It is more than a job and cannot be killed."

As he points out, the link between Jamaica and the United States is greater than many people realize.

AFTER HIS brief look at this country, Isaacs has only one word of advice. He says that the American farmer, particularly the cattle or chicken raiser, must be careful to plan for vacations. Isaacs observes that some farmers are afraid to entrust their animals to anyone else, and thus never leave their farms. This is bad, he says, because farmers need relaxation.

Isaacs pointed out that Jamaicans have a strong feeling of friendship towards the United States, and this is strengthened by the many natives who have come here to study or have settled here.

Isaacs himself has a 21-year-old daughter at Columbia University and a 13-year-old son also in school in New York City. Another son, who is 19, is in the U. S. Air Force and is leaving soon for a tour of duty in England.

As he points out, the link between Jamaica and the United States is greater than many people realize.

Viet Nam Sends Aid to Refugees

NEW YORK (AP) — Tran Van Choung, Viet Nam's ambassador to the United States, has presented a check for $70,000 to the International Rescue Committee to help refugees from Communist oppression in Hungary.

Tran said the money came almost entirely from small individual contributions by the people of South Viet Nam.

Dr. Mrs. Frank Karney was welcomed into the troop as assistant leader.

Karen Hyer, the president, conducted a short business meeting before the ceremony. Eight members answered the roll call by Jean Hamilton, secretary.

Plans were completed for holding the troop Christmas party, with a gift exchange, at next Tuesday's meeting at the home of Mrs. Killinder.

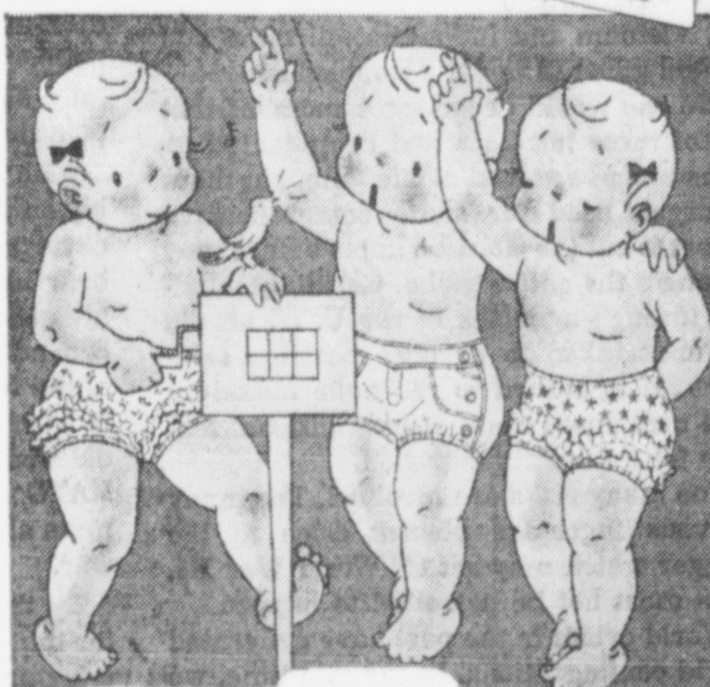

Refreshments were served after the meeting by Jim Killinder and Joe Maier.

Will America Become

A few evenings ago while a group of local people were discussing current events, one woman among those present made the remark that most anyone reading today's newspaper headlines was inclined to wonder how the world survives at all.

Her statement seems to meet the general idea among much of the public. In addition to the daily news of crimes, accidents and various disasters in our own home land, the list of trouble spots over the globe seems to grow longer by the day.

Besides the Middle East, the plight of Hungary, the pressure against Poland in her effort for more complete freedom, unrest in other countries including Yugoslavia recently where the Soviet Union is said to be trying to foment further difficulties, deep-rooted problems in Korea, Formosa, Vietnam and Indonesia, all these and others give the world a troubled aspect.

No one would argue for a moment that all of these intricate and complicated issues could be solved at one time, but there is urgent need for some comprehensive effort to cut the Gordian knots before they strangle the entire globe. Certainly, studies through agencies of the U. N. should be undertaken to propose possible solutions. It is absurd to reconcile ourselves to a continuous state of international tension for an indefinite period.

Too many risks are involved. Too many nervous finger are always close to the trigger which may set off World War III. This must not be permitted to happen.

World crises in the past have generated world conflagrations. In our own time, we have witnessed two World Wars and a series of local conflicts, almost any one of which might have led to a third international war. Out of these holocausts, there has emerged in the West a determination to avoid what appears to be a potential threat to all of civilization through atomic warfare.

In the Middle East, it has required a grim and steadfast policy to prevent our own country from becoming involved on the side of our historic allies, Britain and France, against a dictator whose overall conduct poses a challenge to the peace of the world. We have, perhaps, alienated some of our friends by a rigid adherence to principle in the face of a grave temptation to by-pass international agencies and take violent action.

However America seems to be emerging as the guardian of world peace. We are applying the same standards of international conduct to our friends as we apply to others. Violence in the Suez is as bad when it is pressed by Britain and France as violence in North Korea instigated by Communist China. In the long run, this policy will be more than vindicated. It may be established as a historic turning point in world affairs.

With public attention focussing inevitably on the work of the United Nations, it is nevertheless important for Americans to bear in mind the work of NATO and the alliances engineered by the Asiatic-African nations as well. Our own leadership of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is impaired as the result of current Middle East tensions, but we must not permit NATO to deteriorate if Europe is to remain alert against the potential menace of war.

By the same token, it is certainly time for the U. N. to reconsider its own role as a factor in the prevention of war. International arbitration of disputes has never been a popular practice, but it is at least a happy alternative to armed conflict. If the UN can persuade all of its members to accept compulsory arbitration, we may be making progress of a vastly different kind from anything recorded to date. It would certainly find welcome acceptance in the Western Hemisphere.

Ohio Whale-Hunting Curbed

NEW YORK (AP)—Some things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail or old magazines in his dentist's office: That it is illegal to catch whales in Ohio on Sundays, but in any-going Tennessee there is no law against shooting them from moving automobiles. That 96.5 per cent of the farms in Japan have electricity, as compared to only 91 per cent in America. That politics has an extra hazard in Sumatra, where, in 1954, three election officials and 55 voters were eaten by tigers. That Queen Isabella of Spain, who backed Christopher Columbus on his wrong-way voyage to India, is said to have boasted she took only two baths in her life—when she was born and when she was married. That about 10 million volunteer workers raise $5 billion in the United States every year for charitable and philanthropic causes.

That 55 per cent of the prisoners released by state and federal prisons are back behind the bars within five years. That Thomas Jefferson was one of eight U. S. presidents who never vetoed an act of Congress. Franklin D. Roosevelt used the veto most—631 times. That Europeans who sneer at the United States as musically illiterate probably don't realize this country has 938 symphony orchestras and that its radio stations carry an average of 6.9 hours a week of classical music. That one half of American men today wear knit shorts (or so an underwear company claims) but did you ever hear of a wife who knitted her husband shorts? That the late bandleader Tommy Dorsey, whose recordings sold in the millions, earned 68 cents for his first public appearance with a band called "The Shenandoah Wild Canaries."

That the word "Lord" appears 8,000 times in the Bible. That deaf children spell better than children with unimpaired hearing. That 26 jet planes, warming up, make as much sound as a full symphony orchestra multiplied 1,000 times. That Wally Rose, veteran movie "daredevil," says film stunts have cost only four lives in 50 years. That if you are planning to be among the first air passengers to the moon, you'd better start hoarding your pennies now. At six cents a mile, the round trip will cost $28,680, first class. That Americans buy 60 million decks of cards a year and spend at least 1.2 billion hours a year playing card games. That it was H. L. Mencken who observed, "men have a much better time of it than women; for one thing they marry later; for another thing, they die earlier."

The Pay of Teachers

When taxes consume a large part of everybody's income and when the cost of living rises steadily, certain elements in the community find themselves earning less and less in the purchasing power of their take-home pay.

Some industrial contracts include escalator clauses which protect the purchasing power of the wage; such escalator "cost-of-living" clauses rarely appear in the salary scales of professionals.

However, those who have fixed incomes of any form, find that the value of their income is constantly being reduced. The same is true of white-collar workers, as they are called, who live on fixed salaries, sometimes determined by statutes which limit pay not by a measure of the cost of living for the particular type of employee but by the will of a legislative body.

With regard to teachers, I have received many letters objecting to any arithmetic which indicates that a teacher is paid for 52 weeks work. Some say that a teacher works only 40 weeks a year but is paid for 52 weeks.

It is to be hoped that the critics are wrong. A teacher, whether in the kindergarten or a university, not only teaches but has to learn. A teacher who stops learning has nothing to teach; he or she becomes empty-headed and useless. It must therefore be assumed that a teacher's salary also includes continuing learning time.

Let me cite an example: A teacher of physics, during the past decade, has had to do a lot of study on the subject of atomic fission so that he knows what he is talking about in the classroom and if the students ask questions. This requires an enormous amount of technical reading which cannot be done as one watches a movie show. It is necessarily slow and laborious.

The year 1957 is the geophysical year. Many important scientific developments are being brought into the news about which students in high schools and colleges ought to know more than is casually reported in the press. A professor of physics, geology, geophysics, astrophysics, astronomy, etc., has to be prepared to prepare himself for this special year. He might have used a summer or a sabbatical year to travel to some other country or to serve on a team doing some special task, or attending lectures or seminars.

Often there is no additional pay for the time put into intellectual tasks, and yet without special work, the teacher stagnates.

I have twice listened to President Theodore Hesburgh of Notre Dame speak about the need for increasing faculty salaries. It is not that learned men have become more mercenary in the present era than they used to be in another age, but that the cost of living, the cost of taxes, the cost of books and magazines, the cost of educating children—all these have gone up for the learned men as well as for the man who is not learned.

As a matter of fact, the truck driver, who may have been a college football player or who may never have been to a college, may find that his wages and fringe benefits bring him more for his family than a professor who knows how to build an atomic reactor.

I have before me a table of salaries for university teachers in California who have had seven years of college education and hold a Ph.D. This could have cost the teacher's family more than $10,000, depending upon the colleges attended and the cost of living in those colleges. The annual salaries for these seven-year trained Ph.D.'s, ranging from instructor to professor, run from a low of $4,512 a year to a high of $9,384 a year before taxes. Deduct taxes and the pay is still less.

A bit player in Hollywood would reject such a salary; a strip-teaser would laugh if offered such pay. But we intrust the intellectual development of our next generations to men who have to dress like gentlemen and who have to maintain a position in the community but whom we pay so little that they must be concerned about how to make ends meet.

When the intellectual leaders of the community are driven down to the proletariat, the danger is that their conscious or subconscious worries and dissatisfactions are bound to be passed on to the students. And that needs to be thought out.

"I've had a dull pain for about a week now between my porthouse and chuck."

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Probably nothing in any field of medicine invokes more misunderstanding and apprehension than electroshock therapy.

While it can be a dangerous weapon, it also is a very valuable tool in treating many diseases of the mind. In fact, this type of therapy is as useful in the treatment of many mental diseases as antibiotics are in treating physical diseases.

Perhaps by explaining a little about electroshock therapy I can clear up some of the misunderstanding about it.

No Shock or Pain

For one thing, there is no shock in the known electrical sense. Neither is there any pain, since the patient is unconscious during treatment.

By applying from 100 to 200 volts of electricity for one-fifth to one-half second through the frontal area of the human brain, we can produce an epileptic-like convulsion in the patient.

Marked Improvement

This convulsion brings marked improvement in many patients with certain types of mental illness. Why it does so, we don't know. Originally, electroshock therapy was developed for treatment of schizophrenia. It has proved helpful to about one-third of the schizophrenics to whom it has been administered.

Yet it is of even greater value in treating mental diseases involving mood, such as manic-depressive psychosis and involutional melancholia.

Disappointing Results

It has been helpful in about two out of three cases of psychoneurotic depression, but results have been disappointing in anxiety neuroses and hysterical and compulsive reactions.

I would like to emphasize that the therapeutic value of electroshock therapy is symptomatic, somewhat unstable in affections and places of residence.

Answer: Not as much importance is attached to this condition since it has been discovered that some organs, although not located in their normal positions in the body, still function fairly well.

By applying from 100 to 200 volts of electricity for one-fifth to one-half second through the frontal area of the human brain, we can produce an epileptic-like convulsion in the patient.

Marked Improvement

This convulsion brings marked improvement in many patients with certain types of mental illness. Why it does so, we don't know.

Originally, electroshock therapy was developed for treatment of schizophrenia. It has proved helpful to about one-third of the schizophrenics to whom it has been administered.

Yet it is of even greater value in treating mental diseases involving mood, such as manic-depressive psychosis and involutional melancholia.

Disappointing Results

It has been helpful in about two out of three cases of psychoneurotic depression, but results have been disappointing in anxiety neuroses and hysterical and compulsive reactions.

I would like to emphasize that the therapeutic value of electroshock therapy is symptomatic.

somewhat unstable in affections and places of residence.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

We are going to have a very rainy January and February, so get ready for wet weather.

How do I know? The "Paint Valley Prophet" says so.

Back in October the Paint Valley Prophet warned that some mighty bad weather was going to hit us in November, and along came that "rugged" winter weather with a reading as low as four degrees above zero, and a series of snow squalls that were decidedly unpleasant.

That meant the prophet again hit the bull's eye.

In my excitement over that rainy weather in January, and February, which would indicate a more or less open winter as foretold by the open corn husks, etc., I forgot to ask the Prophet on what he based his forecast.

Now I don't know whether he based his prophesy on the height of the crawdads' houses; the homes of muskrats higher in the stream banks; that turtles are buried deeper in the mud, or why this is thusly, but now you know what is going to happen — according to the Paint Valley Prophet.

ART FROM KOREA

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Stockwell, of Gregg Rd. in Jefferson Township, are in receipt of a beautiful hand-painted Christmas card showing two Korean women in elaborate garb, sent by Song Do-Goon, a Korean boy who looks after the quonset in which their son, SP3 Roger Stockwell, 330th OSA Co. is stationed.

A short letter from the Korean boy accompanies the card, in which he writes in part:

"I like much work with the your fine son."

The Stockwells are justly proud of the artistic card and accompanying letter, and are also delighted to know that their son, who has been in Korea since last January as a member of the U. S. Security force, is coming home in April.

Mrs. Stockwell also received a copy of the Thanksgiving dinner menu which was served to the company in which her son is enrolled, and if you take a look at it, you will know that Uncle Sam is feeding his boys well in Korea.

The menu follows: "Shrimp cocktail, lemon wedges, roast young tom turkey, sage dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, whipped potatoes, glazed sweet potatoes, asparagus spears in hollandaise sauce, whole grain corn, Waldorf salad, carrot sticks, olives, pickles, Parker House rolls, butter, pumpkin pie, ice cream, fruit cake, assorted fresh fruits, assorted candies, mixed nuts, coffee, milk."

A PRACTICAL MAN

Residents of the Frankfort community tell me that years ago a man resided in Frankfort who must have had a practical turn of mind. Years before he died he made himself a coffin (they were not caskets in those days).

Apparently he lived longer than he anticipated, for finally he built shelves in the coffin, stood it on end, and used it in the kitchen for a cupboard.

However when he finally passed away, his wishes were carried out — the shelves were removed from the kitchen cupboard, and the coffin was utilized for its original intended purpose.

THE CYCLONE REPUBLICAN

William Haines, 742 Washington Ave., vocational agriculture teacher in the Jeffersonville schools and native of the Buena Vista community, brought a copy of the old Cyclone Republican to me, for inspection.

The paper bears date of September 22, 1904, at which time it was edited by Thomas W. Marchant, attorney, and W. R. Dalbey was the city editor.

The 52-year-old newspaper carries several things of interest.

One of these is the announcement that Samuel Nelson, Civil War veteran running for sheriff on an independent ticket, and his son, Oliver Nelson, had broken away from the "Harry Daugherty Machine," in Fayette County, and that Daugherty had threatened to defeat Nelson for sheriff, and "fill the Courthouse with my friends," if it cost him $10,000.

Another article tells of a horse race at the Fayette County Fairgrounds, between "Tardy T," owned by a Springfield man, and a circus horse which had been beating all comers.

"Irish" Dore, circus employee, had arranged the match, and bet heavily against the circus horse. When the race was staged late in the afternoon after the Forepaugh-Sells Circus had given the afternoon performance, about all the circus folks were present, having bet heavily on their horse, but "Tardy T," beat the circus horse by half a length.

Dore intended to have "Lapsus," George Melvin's running horse, pitted against the circus horse, but "Lapsus" went lame.

It was then that "Tardy T" was brought into the picture.

I quote from the article what happened at the race, and I know you will enjoy reading it:

"The circus horse which had been accustomed to making short dashes around the circus ring, went off like the wind in the first quarter, leaving 'Tardy T' well nipped."

"The circus folks and others who had backed the circus horse went wild at the start and split the atmosphere with cheers."

"But things took a turn in the last half and 'Tardy T' came up rapidly. The circus people quit cheering and "Irish" Dore began to jump, throw his hat and yell like a Commanche Indian, and when the horses passed under the wire with "Tardy T" half a length in the lead the only individual that could be heard was "Irish."

A third interesting item in the old paper is an advertisement announcing that J. C. Dunn and Son, one of the leading firms in the city at the time, were quitting business, and selling all clothing, carpets, boots, shoes, etc., at one-third off.

Ohio Hog Prices Hit Higher Level

COLUMBUS (AP)—Market hogs averaged $16.50 last week, the highest weekly average since late September. Sow prices followed butcher hog prices closely.

Auto Makers Show Models

NEW YORK (AP)—This nation's auto industry is showing off its glamorous new products at the National Auto Show here.

Scene for the 11½ million dollar industrial extravaganza is New York's new Coliseum on Columbus Circle. For all practical purposes the show opened Friday night as thousands of persons roamed over three floors to inspect the last word in passenger cars and trucks and scores of cutaway displays of engineering component like fuel injection systems, high compression engines, braking systems and multiple barrel carburetor assemblies.

It was an invitational preview for the press, industry representatives generally and their friends. The main show runs through the next nine days.

There are 125 passenger cars on the second and third floors of the Coliseum. On the first floor are approximately 70 trucks and coaches. Counting in the huge rounded stage, from which a top musical revue will be presented six times daily, the presentation takes up 300,000 square feet of exhibition space.

Theoretically the show is restricted to what the industry knows as "production" model cars, cars that actually may be purchased in the market places. But several cars on display will not reach the production lines before next spring; some are so lavishly finished and upholstered that there appears some doubt that they could be obtained on anything but a "built-to-order" basis.

Early visitors displayed special interest in the Cadillac "Director." It is equipped with a rear facing seat to the right of the driver, for the busy executive's secretary. Equipment includes a typewriter that folds into a center partition, a telephone, and letter filing equipment.

A new Rambler Rebel model to come out next spring with electronically actuated fuel injection. 1957 model Packard Clipper and a glamorous-looking Golden Hawk sports model.

Attracting much interest at the Ford display was its newest Fairlane model with a retractable steel top. Mercury's leading eye-catcher was the new Turnpike Cruiser, with retractable rear window and numerous other advanced engineering features.

Chrysler showed its newest offering, the so-called "300" series — a 375 horsepower limited production model — and its Plymouth division showed a new "Fury" model, only 53½ inches high and powered with a 290 horsepower engine.

Topping the Pontiac exhibit were two cars, its Bonneville convertible to be powered with me-

Garden Clubbers
Receive Hints In Demonstrations

Holiday customs and festive decorations were the theme of the Fayette County Garden Clubs meeting held at the Dayton Power and Light Co. club rooms on Friday, December 7th.

Mrs. Ray Shoemaker, county contact chairman, called the meeting to order and extended greetings to all. She also introduced Mrs. H. R. Warren of Wellston, who is regional director of District Nine.

Mrs. Warren conducted the roll call of clubs and all nine clubs of Fayette County were represented and members of the Wilmington Garden Club were welcomed as guests.

Mrs. Shoemaker introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Irene Jackson who explained why we decorate at Christmas time.

During the early Christian era, they decorated with evergreen, a symbol to escape persecution. Holy was well known to the Romans, symbolic of the crown of thorns worn by our Saviour.

In America every one has a door arrangement, which is a welcome sign to our friends.

Mrs. Jackson had on display seven wreaths, which were made of native materials such as cones of different sizes of evergreens and one wreath made of tin cans. The tin had been cut into several sized flowers, painted and sprinkled with glitter. Beautiful tree ornaments may be cut out of tin especially tin cans that are gold lined.

Also, on display were several plaques made of tin and painted. Two of the wreaths had been sprayed with gold and white.

Mrs. Jackson also demonstrated the making of wreaths step by step making sure the material used must be wired securely on a frame.

The frames and mechanics used may be purchased from most florists shops. To add a bit of color on the wreaths, large red ribbon bows, colored balls and tinsel with red beads may be used as decorations.

Mrs. Jackson next demonstrated the different ways to make a swag or door piece. You may use long pieces of evergreens with bright bows or balls. A cluster of bells also may be used.

A dust pan with an apron, painted in silver or gold, filled with evergreens and a bright ribbon bow, makes an attractive door piece. Swags also may be made on a wire frame but material used must be wired securely using the same method as for wreaths.

For a very attentive groups of gardeners and guests, Mrs. Jackson made five Christmas flower arrangements, which every one should have in their home during the holidays.

First was a vertical arrangement black compote with magnolia leaves painted white and sprinkled with silver glitter, sycamore pods wired to form a bunch of grapes was used for accent, which was very effective.

An incense burner was used as a container using "Tie Leaves" for height and red carnations for local point of interest.

The next arrangement was made on a picture frame, using a sycamore root, evergreens that had been sprayed with silver.

Their was also a landscape scene with a story to tell, using two ceramic carollers as an accessory which was very clever.

An arrangement of driftwood was used on an oak design using evergreens and mountain laurel to honor St. Joseph, which was an accessory.

The flower arranging demonstration closed with the making of gladioli, holly and magnolia leaves used in a silver basket.

The garden club members feel that this was one of the most interesting and instructive demonstrations that has been presented here, and vote of thanks and appreciation was extended to Mrs. Jackson for her services.

Visitors were from Wilmington, Wellston and Ewington, as well as a number of visitors from the city and county, who were guests of the garden club members.

$66 Million Ohio Highway Improvement Program Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Highway Director S. O. Linzell today announced plans for a three-year highway improvement program costing $66,254,000.

The program, to be financed with revenues from the two-cent gasoline tax for new construction, will supplement the recently announced long-range federal highway aid program and the proposed major thoroughfare program.

The highway improvement fund is the only state fund eligible for use on about 12,000 of 18,400 miles of state highways, Linzell said.

The money, after setting aside funds for operation of the department, and supplementing maintenance funds, provides about 20 million dollars per year for construction programs. This fund must be used to match secondary federal aid funds and some primary federal aid and urban federal aid funds for projects not on the major thoroughfare system.

The fund is set aside for five major purposes. These include resurfacing, elimination of weak and narrow bridges, correction of accident prone sections, elimination of traffic bottlenecks and corrections of landslide and drainage problems.

Linzell sent copies of his program to the Ohio House and Senate. He warned that the program may have to be curtailed drastically unless the Legislature makes available to the highway department revenue from the axle mile tax on trucks to finance the engineering costs on bond issue projects under the major thoroughfare program.

This cost amounts to about 10 million dollars a year. The axle mile tax raises between 10 and 11 millions a year.

The highway improvement program announced by Linzell today would be for the calendar year of 1957, and partial program for 1958 and 1959 calendar years. The improvement projects are planned in each of the highway department's 10 divisions.

Elementary School Standard Gets Study by State Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state board of education was expected to act today on proposed elementary school standards.

At hearings on the standards Monday, H. Bartley Arnold, chief spokesman for a group representing private schools, said the standards fail to meet their needs.

He objected to one provision that says "all classroom teachers in the elementary schools shall have met the requirements for certification and hold a legal certificate for the work performed."

Under Ohio's general practice, Arnold said, a teacher must hold a degree from a school of education before he can receive a certificate.

"But the basic job of the independent (private) schools," he said, "is to prepare students for liberal arts and science colleges. And it has been our experience that teachers who come from liberal arts colleges are more suited to teach that type of education."

Unless independent schools are exempt from the provision, "we would be cutting off an important supply of teachers," he would be putting tax supported and non-tax supported schools in competition for teachers and we would be putting Ohio's independent schools at a disadvantage in competing with other states for teachers," Arnold said.

Other speakers at the hearing objected to a provision which says "each elementary school shall have at least three full-time teachers and not more than two grades shall be housed in the same classroom."

It was pointed out that some schools with no more than eight pupils spread across five or six grades would find it impossible to hire more than one teacher or to build expensive and unnecessary additional classrooms.

The board Monday night approved 58 one-room and 105 two-room schools for operation in the 1956-57 school year in Ohio.

The board, in other action, also received from Dr. Harold S. Vincent, Milwaukee school superintendent, his formal acceptance of appointment as state superintendent of instruction next July 1.

Approved reservations of state grants of $36,000 for Jackson Local District in Jackson County and $200,000 for Monroe Local District in Monroe County for new school buildings.

Approved grants totaling $1,866,271 to seven districts.

Approved charters and certificates of affiliation for Shawnee High School in Preble County and Warren Junior High School in Washington County.

Disapproved the request of Western District in Pike County for permission to submit a $156,000 bond issue in excess of a 6 per cent limitation.

Voted to give state education department employees pre-Christmas and pre-New Year holidays Dec. 24 and 31.

Ohioan Urges Sanctions Be Put on Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) said Monday the United States should seek international economic sanctions against the Russians and the present Hungarian regime for flaunting the United Nations in the Hungarian crisis.

Hays spoke at a new conference upon his return from a European visit.

He went to Paris as chairman of the U. S. House delegation to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) conference of Parliament members. He also spent several days on the Austrian-Hungarian border.

The congressman said Americans are in the "tragic situation" of having to spend perhaps billions of dollars "to compensate for a lack of policy in the Near East."

Hays, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, attacked the Eisenhower administration generally for what he said was a lack of foreign policy.

Hays also said he is trying to find an Ohio home for a young Hungarian couple who fled their Communist-ruled land during the revolt against the Russians.

Hays talked with Bella Lukacs, 20, and his wife, Johanna, 22, at a refugee camp near Vienna. He said both had been attending the University of Budapest and that he will try to get them into an American college, preferably Ohio State University.

Amvets Ask Trial For 2 Turncoats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio AMVETS Commander Edgar L. Williams of Hamilton said Monday the organization has requested court martial for returned turncoats Arley Pate of Carbonale, Ill., and Aaron Wilson of Urania, La.

He said the request was made in a letter to Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson.

Pate and Aaron Wilson were two of 21 American prisoners of war who chose to stay in Red China after the fighting in Korea was over. The two recently decided to come home.

A top aide of Bricker's confirms this impression is precisely correct, although Bricker doesn't say so publicly.

As this aide puts it: "Lausche has made no affirmative move to make us think otherwise."

All this, of course, relates to Lausche's professed indecision during the Ohio senatorial campaign as to the party he would vote with on organization of the new Senate.

As matters stand, Lausche says he intends to serve out his term as Ohio governor before assuming the office of junior Ohio senator.

That would put off the question, for him until Jan. 15 or later.

With a potential 48-47 edge, Democrats probably will organize the Senate on opening day, Jan. 3. The question of organization, however, could be reconsidered at any subsequent time.

Bricker was asked at a news conference the other day what he thought about this situation brought up by his new colleague.

It was his opinion, he said, that the law would require Lausche to come "all the way over" to the Republicans if he joined them in organizing the Senate. In short, Lausche would have to change parties.

Asked if he thought the governor would take such a step, Bricker smiled and replied that he would have no way of knowing.

Thus, all the Bricker people can do is guess—and the guessing is that Lausche would not change parties.

Some startling changes would be brought about if Lausche did get the Republicans into control of the Senate. For example: Bricker, who would become chairman of the powerful Commerce Committee, would have a big say-so on Lausche's committee assignments.

Bricker is expected to be re-named chairman of the GOP committee on committees, the group that hands out these assignments. To a senator, committee assignments are important.

A good committee—for example, Foreign Relations—gives him a voice in big doings. The other kind—say, Public Works—can be fairly humdrum and obscure.

Just what the Democrats would give Lausche in the way of committee assignments if he stays on their team is not known. But the leaders have always insisted they try to give every senator one good committee.

CONSTIPATED? new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONOID, the amazing new lavative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Uncensored Report on Red China

Manchurian City Revolves Completely around Factory

Editor's Note—A Canadian reporter, David Lancashire, has spent six weeks touring Red China—an area where U.S. reporters cannot travel because of State Department rulings. Lancashire traveled 5,500 miles and talked to farmers, factory workers, clerks and even a few capitalists. In this uncensored story, first of a series to appear this week, Lancashire tells of the industrial development of Manchuria and how life is lived there.

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

MUKDEN (Shenyang), China (AP)—Mukden was developed and then given up in defeat by the Japanese. It was restored by the Russians when they occupied Manchuria after World War II. Today, back in Chinese hands, it is the hub of an industrialization program aimed at making Manchuria a world production center.

There are 1,834 factories and mines in Liaoning Province, and most of them are centered in Mukden and Anshan, two hours away. So many factories are now plugged into the city's power lines that public electricity is often cut off in the daytime.

There is no gaiety here. By 7 p.m. streets are empty except for workers on their way to night school. Social and family life is sacrificed to production, and even the cigarettes in Mukden are starved with a little cog-wheel trademark.

It is a dreary city of almost 2½ million, with miles of walls and drab houses, forests of chimneys and acres of housing projects for the workers who tend the heavy production lines.

The residents live and think in terms of the factory. The model housing village outside the city, where 7,000 factory families live in new but squalid buildings, is peppered with posters and slogans. The factories are hung with banners urging workers to "increase your political consciousness as you increase production."

In the downtown district, a former department store houses an exhibition of unbelievable dullness. There are five floors of lathes, plows, bottled chemicals, sample cases of ballbearings and steel bars, drill presses and truck tires.

But the monotonous display draws 1,200 persons a day, the director said, and 4,000 or 5,000 on Sundays. A good percentage of the serious-faced visitors are women and tiny children, and high school students intently enjoying their one day off in the week. The factory had works a 48-hour week, and has hospitalization and housing supplied almost free by the state. There are no vacations, but seven days off a year for national holidays.

Wages run from about 33 yuan a month to 108 yuan for highly skilled men or women ($14 to $47). These are among the highest industrial salaries in China.

The usual workers' home is a one or two-room affair with leaky faucets, bare walls and no bathroom. Furniture—wooden beds with no mattresses, and straight-backed chairs—is often supplied by the factory. A family generally includes two or three children, plus in-laws.

Rent, however, is only $2 or $3 a month. And since night life is unknown in Northeast China except for movies or dances at the factory canteens, there is nothing much but subsistence for a laborer to spend his money on. Most manage to bank a small amount.

This fall, workers in Manchuria got a retroactive pay increase of 14 per cent. The city's stores were filled with families splurging the bonus on such luxuries as small radios, bicycles and padded cotton clothing.

Almost all the factories were built by the Japanese during their 14-year occupation. As the Japanese fled, they tried to leave the buildings and machinery in ruins.

The Russians who followed confiscated much of the workable machinery and shipped it to the Soviet Union. Since then, however, they have been pouring technical and financial aid back into the province. Many of the 205 projects to be aided by the U.S.S.R. during the first five-year plan are in this area.

All expansion of the factories and installation of machinery was planned by Russian technologists. Crews of Chinese workers were sent to Russia to learn the intricacies of the machine age. Now directors of the plants say, the Chinese are capable of running things themselves. The Russians have for the most part gone home.

OSU Presidential Inauguration Set

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State University's board of trustees has set April 29 as the date for inauguration ceremonies for Dr. Novice G. Fawcett as the eighth president of the university.

James W. Hoffman, chairman of the board, said the formal robing ceremonies would be limited to a single day's program in the stadium followed by a luncheon at the Ohio Union.

An afternoon ceremony will be held in Marshon Auditorium marking dedication of the new home of the school's music department.

towering blast furnaces turn out most of China's iron, the redevelopment program has tied itself into a knot.

The roads through the 60 factories are churned to mud. Traffic is blocked by switch engines shunting to and from the factories.

Once away from the factories, Anshan is an attractive city. Streets laid out by the Japanese are wide and tree-lined, and small parks have been provided for the laborers.

Even Canine Class Joining Union Now

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The drive to organize labor is reaching into the canine class.

The American Guild of Animal Actors headed by Bronx Theater Critic Miss Peggy Foides, will seek definite working hours, a minimum wage, and retirement benefits.

Another goal is a home for aged dogs and other animals who appear on stage, screen, television and as models in ads.

A letter announcing formation of the guild said Lassie, Rin Tin Tin and Flicka, among others, "deserve a comfortable old age when their popularity wanes."

The letter didn't make clear whether union dues would be paid in the name of animal members or their owners.

Enthusiasm Dampened

GALESTON, Tex. (AP)—His enthusiasm for spear fishing was dampened considerably when Charles Hayes returned from four hours at the sport to find his car sinking slowly beneath a high tide. He had parked it on the beach and thought it would be safe, but the tide came in faster than he figured.

Bobby Feller Decides It's Time To Retire

After 21 Years Play,
Rapid Robert To Take
Indian Office Job

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Feller, the Van Meter, Iowa, ploughboy who grew up to become the major league strikeout king and one of baseball's greatest of all pitchers, has decided to retire from active service after 21 years with the Cleveland Indians.

A friend of Feller's advised The Associated Press today that the former fireballing right-hander, who turned 38 last month, had told him he had just about made up his mind to retire from the player ranks and accept an offer of a job in the Indians' front office.

Feller is now attending a meeting in New Orleans of the Baseball Players' Assn. of which he is president. He is expected to make his retirement announcement within a week or 10 days.

(In a phone conversation with the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Feller said he hadn't made up his mind yet. "I will return to Cleveland later this week and plan to confer with Hank Greenberg before Christmas," he said. "I hope to reach a decision at that time.")

"Bob had his mind pretty well made up when I talked to him," Feller's friend declared. "At first he was determined to continue on the active list, if not with the Indians then with another big league club. Now I believe he is convinced he would be crazy to hang on."

Feller, who won 266 games and lost 162, despite three and a half years' service with Uncle Sam, was used only four times as a starter last season, losing all four.

Cleveland General Manager Greenberg, who had offered the front office job to Feller, said he had received no word from the former Indian ace.

"I certainly hope it's true," Greenberg declared. "I talked with him a month ago and he told me he would let me know when he made up his mind. I haven't heard from him since."

Greenberg explained he had outlined no specific duties to Feller when he offered to promote him to the front office.

"I offered him the choice of taking his release and pitching for some other club," Hank said, "or accepting a job with us in the front office so he could learn the business end of baseball."

"I explained to him that, in my opinion, he would be making a mistake if he rejected our proposal and tried to hang on as a part-time performer. I pointed out to him that I had to make the same decision and I was never sorry for what I did. It's tough to admit you don't have it any more but it's tougher still to bounce around from club to club."

Greenberg said Feller's duties at the start would be to assist in the office, do promotional work, some scouting and other things.

"I hope Bob doesn't change his mind," the Hall of Famer said. "I think it's a wonderful opportunity for him to learn the business and at the same time do a great service to the club. We sincerely want Feller to remain with us. As far as I'm concerned, there will always be a job waiting for Bob in the Cleveland organization."

Feller who won more games than any other hurler in Cleveland history. The Indians decided they could no longer carry him on the active roster because of the presence of many promising young pitchers who had to be given the chance.

Only two years ago, at the age of 34, Feller turned in a sparkling 13-3 record but slumped to 4-7 the following year. A six-time 20-game winner, Bob reached his peak in the 1939-41 seasons, winning 76 games in those three years. After his service discharge he came back to win 26 games in 1946.

Rapid Robert, as he was called, set numerous records but the ones he cherishes most are his three no-hitters, his dozen one-hitters, his 348 strikeouts in 1946 and his 18 strikeouts in one game against the Tigers on Oct. 2, 1938. His lifetime total of 2,581 strikeouts in 3,828 innings is second only to that of Walter Johnson.

Bucky Harris says "the Detroit front office" blocked waivers on Yankee pitcher Tom Stivers last May.

Texas To Honor Bobby Morrow

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Morrow, mighty man of the Olympic Games, was to get the welcome of a conquering hero today.

The tall Texan who sped to glory in the Olympics and brought this city and Abilene Christian College their greatest renown planned to have a 20-foot red carpet rolled out for him when he alights at the Abilene Airport.

A parade downtown with 5,000 of Morrow's admirers showering him with ticker tape and a testimonial dinner tonight will make "Bobby Morrow Day" in Abilene an occasion to be remembered.

HANGED in effigy on the campus after his team lost to Missouri, Chuck Mather (above), head coach at Kansas and former successful coach at Massillon, O., High school, not only was rehired for the 1957 season but received an increase in salary. Mather's team won three, lost six and tied one this season. (International)

Kansas Quint Voted as Top Team in U. S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Kansas, spearheaded by seven-foot Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, tops the collegiate ranks in the first Associated Press basketball poll of the season.

The heralded sophomore averaged 45.5 points in the Jayhawkers' 10 victories at home over Northwestern and Marquette. The sports writers seemed impressed by Chamberlain's varsity debut that 58 of the 108 participating in the balloting picked Kansas as No. 1.

Kansas accumulated 896 points with the standings figured on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, etc. San Francisco, No. 1 team in the final AP poll last two seasons, is runner-up with 675 points, including 18 firsts.

Kentucky, displaying another sophomore sensation in Johnny Cox, rolled up three straight victories to rank third in the listings with 514 points.

Louisville, National Invitational Tourney winner last March, is fourth with 403 points, two more than Southern Methodist, with 401. Rounding out the top 10 are North Carolina (No. 6), Illinois (No. 7), North Carolina State (No. 8), Alabama (No. 9) and Canisius (No. 10).

Cubs Gain Pair of Catchers In Flurry of Player Deals

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, who only 24 hours ago were desperately seeking to strengthen their catching department, had two new backstops today after the purchase of Charlie Silvera from the New York Yankees and the acquisition of Ray Katt in a 10-player trade with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Katt, a 247 hitter who clouted 13 home runs last season, came first. With him came pitchers Tom Poholsky and Jackie Collum and infielder Wally Lammer, who was immediately shipped to the Cubs' Los Angeles farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Two other players, of minor league caliber, have been promised by the Cardinals no later than March 1. These players will be sent to the Yankees along with $10,000 for Silvera.

In return for the Redbird flock, the Cubs sent pitchers Stan Jones and Jim Davis, catcher Hobie Miksis, and utility man Eddie Mikkis. Jones, who pitched a no-hitter against Pittsburgh May 12, 1955, and Poholsky, who hurled a 22-inning game while with Rochester back in 1950, were the biggest named in the transaction. Each had a 9-14 record last year.

Manager Bob Scheffing was enthusiastic over the two deals, his first since he succeeded Stan Hack as pilot of the Cubs two months ago.

"In Silvera and Katt," he said, "We acquired two catchers who are better than anybody we had last season. Silvera would have been a first-string catcher if he were on any other club but the Yankees. Katt has a lot of power and should find Wrigley Field to his liking."

The youthful skipper thought the exchange of pitchers with the Cards was a standoff but expected to get more pitching out of Poholsky than he did from Jones.

Aside from trades and trade talk, the two leagues were involved in legislation and re-election of officers.

The two leagues voted to adopt a minor league plan to consolidate their annual meetings and have them alternately in a minor and major league city.

They also voted to set up a player pool to supply talent in case of a catastrophe to any member club, such as a plane or train wreck which could wipe out a team.

The American League voted to adopt a three-game post-season playoff in case of a tie for the pennant. In the past, the American League has had a one-game

Tokyo, Detroit Eye '64 Olympics

HONG KONG (AP)—Tokyo has an even chance of hosting the 1964 Olympic Games, a high Canadian Olympic official said today.

Only two cities—Tokyo and Detroit—at present are under serious consideration by the International Olympic Committee, said E. Howard Radford, assistant chief of mission of Canada's Olympic delegation and member of the Canadian Olympic Committee.

Radford said friends on the IOC told him during the Melbourne games "It's a toss-up between Tokyo and Detroit at this point."

Billiken '5' Upsets Big Kentucky Foe

NEW YORK (AP)—Everything is normal in college basketball after all—Eddie Hickey and his St. Louis Billikens have knocked off Adolph Rupp's Kentuckians.

Hickey has a penchant for hitting the Bluegrasses like sour-mash on an empty stomach, and he did it again Monday night. Hours after the Wildcats had been granted the No. 3 spot in the first Associated Press poll of the season, the unranked, once-beaten Bills up and bopped 'em 71-70.

Harold Alcorn of the Billikens, a senior guard, outscored Kentucky 12-8 all by himself in one five-minute spurt midway through the final half and then put it away with two foul shots in the closing minutes. He finished with 24 points.

Bobby Feller Decides It's Time To Retire

After 21 Years Play,
Rapid Robert To Take
Indian Office Job

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Feller, the Van Meter, Iowa, ploughboy who grew up to become the major league strikeout king and one of baseball's greatest of all pitchers, has decided to retire from active service after 21 years with the Cleveland Indians.

A friend of Feller's advised The Associated Press today that the former fireballing right-hander, who turned 38 last month, had told him he had just about made up his mind to retire from the player ranks and accept an offer of a job in the Indians' front office.

Feller is now attending a meeting in New Orleans of the Baseball Players' Assn. of which he is president. He is expected to make his retirement announcement within a week or 10 days.

(In a phone conversation with the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Feller said he hadn't made up his mind yet. "I will return to Cleveland later this week and plan to confer with Hank Greenberg before Christmas," he said. "I hope to reach a decision at that time.")

"Bob had his mind pretty well made up when I talked to him," Feller's friend declared. "At first he was determined to continue on the active list, if not with the Indians then with another big league club. Now I believe he is convinced he would be crazy to hang on."

Feller, who won 266 games and lost 162, despite three and a half year's service with Uncle Sam, was used only four times as a starter last season, losing all four.

Cleveland General Manager Greenberg, who had offered the front office job to Feller, said he had received no word from the former Indian ace.

"I certainly hope it's true," Greenberg declared. "I talked with him a month ago and he told me he would let me know when he made up his mind. I haven't heard from him since."

Greenberg explained he had outlined no specific duties to Feller when he offered to promote him to the front office.

"I offered him the choice of taking his release and pitching for some other club," Hank said, "or accepting a job with us in the front office so he could learn the business end of baseball."

"I explained to him that, in my opinion, he would be making a mistake if he rejected our proposal and tried to hang on as a part-time performer. I pointed out to him that I had to make the same decision and I was never sorry for what I did. It's tough to admit you don't have it any more but it's tougher still to bounce around from club to club."

Greenberg said Feller's duties at the start would be to assist in the office, do promotional work, some scouting and other things.

"I hope Bob doesn't change his mind," the Hall of Famer said. "I think it's a wonderful opportunity for him to learn the business and at the same time do a great service to the club. We sincerely want Feller to remain with us. As far as I'm concerned, there will always be a job waiting for Bob in the Cleveland organization."

Feller who won more games than any other hurler in Cleveland history. The Indians decided they could no longer carry him on the active roster because of the presence of many promising young pitchers who had to be given the chance.

Only two years ago, at the age of 36, Feller turned in a sparkling 13-3 record but slumped to 4-4 the following year. A six-time 20-game winner, Bob reached his peak in the 1939-41 seasons, winning 76 games in those three years. After his service discharge he came back to win 26 games in 1946.

Rapid Robert, as he was called, set numerous records but the ones he cherishes most are his three no-hitters, his dozen one-hitters, his 348 strikeouts in 1946 and his 18 strikeouts in one game (against the Tigers on Oct. 2, 1938. His lifetime total of 2,581 strikeouts in 3,828 innings is second only to that of Walter Johnson.

Bucky Harris says "the Detroit front office" blocked waivers on Yankee pitcher Tom Sturdivant last May.

Texas To Honor Bobby Morrow

ABILENE, Tex. — Bobby Morrow, mighty man of the Olympic Games, was to get the welcome of a conquering hero today.

The tall Texan who sped to glory in the Olympics and brought this city and Abilene Christian College their greatest renown planned to have a 20-foot red carpet rolled out for him when he alights at the Abilene Airport.

A parade downtown with 5,000 of Morrow's admirers showering him with ticker tape and a testimonial dinner tonight will make "Bobby Morrow Day" in Abilene an occasion to be remembered.

HANGED in effigy on the campus after his team lost to Missouri, Chuck Mather (above), head coach at Kansas and former successful coach at Massillon, O., High school, not only was required for the 1957 season but received an increase in salary. Mather's team won three, lost six and tied one this season. (International)

Kansas Quint Voted as Top Team in U. S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Kansas, spearheaded by seven-foot Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, tops the collegiate ranks in the first Associated Press basketball poll of the season.

The heralded sophomore averaged 45.5 points in the Jayhawkers' two victories at home over Northwestern and Marquette. The sports writers seemed to be impressed by Chamberlain's varsity debut that 58 of the 108 participating in the balloting picked Kansas as No. 1.

Kansas accumulated 896 points with the standings figured on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, etc. San Francisco, No. 1 team in the final AP poll the last two seasons, is runner-up with 675 points, including 18 firsts.

Kentucky, displaying another sophomore sensation in Johnny Cox, rolled up three straight victories to rank third in the listings with 514 points.

Louisville, National Invitational Tourney winner last March, is fourth with 403 points, two more than Southern Methodist, with 401.

Rounding out the top 10 are North Carolina (No. 6), Illinois (No. 7), North Carolina State (No. 8), Alabama (No. 9) and Canisius (No. 10).

Cubs Gain Pair of Catchers In Flurry of Player Deals

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, who only 24 hours ago were desperately seeking to strengthen their catching department, had two new backstops today after the purchase of Charlie Silvera from the New York Yankees and the acquisition of Ray Katt in a 10-player trade with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Katt, a 247 hitter who clouted 13 home runs last season, came first. With him came pitchers Tom Poholsky and Jackie Collum and infielder Wally Lammers, who was immediately shipped to the Cubs' Los Angeles farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Two other players, of minor league caliber, have been promised by the Cardinals no later than March 1. These players will be sent to the Yankees along with $10,000 for Silvera.

In return for the Redbird flock, the Cubs sent pitchers Sam Jones and Jim Davis, catcher Hobie Landrith and utility man Eddie Miksis. Jones, who pitched a no-hitter against Pittsburgh May 12, 1955, and Poholsky, who hurled a 22-inning game while with Rochester back in 1950, were the biggest names in the transaction. Each had a 9-14 record last year.

Manager Bob Scheffing was enthusiastic over the two deals, his first since he succeeded Stan Hack as pilot of the Cubs two months ago.

"In Silvera and Katt," he said, "we acquired two catchers who are better than anybody we had last season. Silvera would have been a first-string catcher if he were on any other club but the Yankees. Katt has a lot of power and should find Wrigley Field to his liking."

The youthful skipper thought the exchange of pitchers with the Cards was a standoff but expected to get more pitching out of Poholsky than he did from Jones.

Aside from trades and re-election of officers, the two leagues voted to adopt a minor league plan to consolidate their annual meetings and have them alternately in a minor and major league city.

They also voted to set up a player pool to supply talent in case of a catastrophe to any member club, such as a plane or train wreck which could wipe out a team.

The American League voted to adopt a three-game post-season playoff in case of a tie for the pennant. In the past, the American League has had a one - game

Tokyo, Detroit Eye '64 Olympics

HONG KONG (AP)—Tokyo has an even chance of hosting the 1964 Olympic Games, a high Canadian Olympic official said today.

Only two cities — Tokyo and Detroit — at present are under serious consideration by the International Olympic Committee, said E. Howard Radford, assistant chief of mission of Canada's Olympic delegation and member of the Canadian Olympic Committee.

Radford said friends on the IOC told him during the Melbourne games "It's a toss-up between Tokyo and Detroit at this point."

Billiken '5' Upsets Big Kentucky Foe

NEW YORK (AP)—Everything is normal in college basketball after all—Eddie Hickey and his St. Louis Billikens have knocked off Adolph Rupp's Kentuckians.

Hickey has a penchant for hitting the Bluegrass Baron like sour-mash on an empty stomach, and he did it again Monday night. Hours after the Wildcats had been granted the No. 3 spot in the first Associated Press poll of the season, the unranked, once-beaten Bills up and bopped 'em 71-70.

Harold Alcorn of the Billikens, a senior guard, outscored Kentucky 12-8 all by himself in one five-minute spurt midway through the final half and then put it away with two foul shots in the closing minutes. He finished with 24 points.

Since coming to St. Louis, Hickey has beaten the Rupp four out of seven.

Kentucky was the only member of the newly elected top 10 in action Monday night.

In conference play, Maryland gained a tie for the Atlantic Coast lead with Duke by defeating Wake Forest 59-53.

Nebraska kept the heat on the Big Ten by defeating winless Wisconsin 53-51.

Argentine Wins Over McBride

NEW YORK (AP)—Alex Miteff is going home to Argentina for the holidays to get married but the unbeaten 21-year-old heavyweight will be back in February to continue his ring career.

The Argentine went over seven rounds for the first time Monday night to win a split decision over Archie McBride of Trenton in a 10-round match. It was his first main event.

Hospital Board Continues Its Study of Needs

Monday Night Meeting Given Over to Analysis of Situation

Considerable time was given Monday night to a discussion of needs of the Fayette County Memorial Hospital, during the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees.

This discussion was a part of the study which the trustees, the administrator, Miss Christine Evans, and the medical and surgical staff have been giving to the problem for more than a year.

NEARLY A YEAR ago members of the advisory board, representatives from most parts of the county, were called into a meeting to be informed of the public demands for additional service and the necessary requirements of further expansion of the institution if these growing needs are to be met. At that time no official action was taken because of the city and rural school bond issues.

It was pointed out at Monday night's meeting that the saturation point had been reached in available bed space in the medical and surgical division of the institution with an overall percentage of occupancy of approximately 98 per cent during most of the last two years. Other departments have reached a similar condition at various periods.

All this, it is said by hospital officials, means that the problems of the hospital must be faced and definite plans prepared soon to acquaint all the residents of Fayette County with need for action if the institution is to meet its growing requirements.

Many other hospitals in Ohio have similar problems and most of these are preparing, or already have taken steps, to do something toward solving their difficulties.

The November operating report was presented to the board Monday night by the administrator and approved.

THE REPORT disclosed a total of 287 adult admissions during the month and 66 new born infants. Total days of patient service were 2,093. The highest number of patients for any one day of the month was 86, the lowest number any day was 49. In addition 418 out-patients, requiring service but no room or bed, were given service.

There were 58 major and 56 minor operations during the month. Laboratory examinations numbered 2,350 and 748 X-ray films were made.

The hospital's laundry turned out 31,707 pounds of laundry and 7,931 meals were served.

Fayette Recorder Starts 3rd Term As State Officer

Mrs. Eloise Johnson, Fayette County recorder, today is starting her third term as secretary of the Ohio Recorders' Assn.

She was reelected during the association's annual three-day convention in Columbus last week.

She said that while she was flattered by the honor, it does involve a lot of work, especially at the convention. But, she added, "it gives me an opportunity to meet recorders all over the state and get better acquainted with them... and I like people."

Gov.-elect C. William O'Neill welcomed the recorders to the convention, which was held in the Deshler-Hilton Hotel. Among the other speakers were Roger Cloud, speaker of the House of Representatives; Dr. Tennyson Geyer of Findlay, and Fred Schneider, of the Public Employees Retirement System.

Chou's Visit To India Said To Be Success

NEW DELHI, India — New Delhi's newspapers agreed today that Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's visit to India was a success. But they said it would have been more of a success if Chou had agreed with India's views on the Hungarian rebellion.

The Chinese premier told newsmen he and Prime Minister Nehru did not see eye to eye on the revolt and Soviet military intervention in Hungary. He implied that he was not disturbed.

Nehru earlier told Parliament he and Chou on some matters agreed to disagree in a friendly way.

Chou generally followed the Moscow line on events in Hungary. Nehru strongly criticized the Soviet military intervention and is urging that Russian troops get out of Hungary.

In Rangoon, Chou told 500 of Burma's political leaders today the two Asian neighbors can solve a smoldering border dispute "with justice."

Chou arrived Monday on a 10-day visit to settle the border argument. Most newspapers reported his arrival on their front pages but were distinctly cool in tone.

Fish, Game Group To Elect Thursday

New officers are to be elected at Thursday night's meeting of the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn.

Willard Holdren has served as president for the past year, during which the new log lodge near Buena Vista was all but completed as the culmination of a three-year project.

Plans for the New Year's Eve dance at the lodge for members only also are to be discussed along with some project for raising money.

The meeting, to be held at the lodge, is to be followed by the showing of a movie, "Fishing in Alaska," and the serving of venison "steakettes" from a deer bagged by the president last fall.

Family To Pay $50,000 in Bail

CLEVELAND — A Cleveland family is faced with a $50,000 debt because of the disappearance of David F. Tiburzio. The 35-year-old Tiburzio was free on $50,000 bond pending trial in Steubenville for an armed robbery charge.

His parents, Louis and Emilia Tiburzio, his sister, Mrs. Mary Bamberg, and a brother, Frank, all had signed a bail bond secured by a cognovit note. Monday the Liberty Bonding Co. of Youngstown had the note reduced to judgment in court here, saying it had been notified by the court that it will have to make good the $50,000 bail forfeiture.

Greenfield Slayer Enters Guilty Plea

HILLSBORO — A former Fayette County laborer is being held in the Highland County Jail after pleading guilty Monday to the murder of a Greenfield cab company operator Saturday night.

Robert Lee Curtis, 22, who has been charged with first degree murder in the stabbing of Durward E. (Bud) Perry, 51, was arraigned before Hillsboro Justice of the Peace David Boothby, and, after entering his plea of guilty, was bound over to the Highland County Grand Jury without bond.

He will remain in jail until the next session of the grand jury, probably in January.

Curtis is a former employee of the Sugar Creek Stone Quarry and more recently a cement worker on a Dawson and Evans construction job in rural Fayette County. He was a passenger in Perry's cab Saturday night, and killed the driver with a knife in a $9 holdup, police say.

Fall in Jail Cell Injures Man, 78

Chester Mahaffey, 78, of 1146 Rawlings St., today is resting between fresh clean sheets on a soft bed at Memorial Hospital instead of on a hard metal bed in the city jail.

But the question is whether a sore arm and cuts about his head are worth it.

Mahaffey was picked up by police for intoxication about 7 p. m. Monday and taken to the jail to keep him out of harm's way. Police Chief Vaiden Long explained.

About 45 minutes later, Patrolman John Dilley, who was in the outer office, reported he heard a noise, went back to the cell block and found the man on the floor, obviously hurt.

THE ONLY OTHER man in the cell told Dilley that Mahaffey got up from the metal cot and started to walk toward the door. He said his back was turned to him but he heard him fall and before he had time to call for help, Dilley was at the door.

After a quick examination, Mahaffey was taken to the hospital for attention by a physician. Dilley said that at first he thought his shoulder had either been broken or dislocated.

At the hospital Tuesday morning, Mahaffey's condition was described "good." He suffered head lacerations and a slightly injured arm.

Quail Expensive; One Costs $50!

One little quail can be pretty expensive in Ohio.

Benjamin H. Lester, of Portsmouth, paid $50 for one when he forfeited bond in that amount for failure to appear in Municipal Court here Tuesday morning.

Lester was arrested by Game Protector John E. Adams Saturday on the Blue Rock Quarry tract, Greenfield Rd. He was charged by Adams with illegally taking a quail and having possession of the quail.

Quail are protected by law in Ohio.

Window Broken At Warehouse

A break-in at the Central Grocery Co., 208 E. Market St., got no further than a broken window at the back of the warehouse early Tuesday.

Patrolmen, making their usual night patrol through the alleys, found the shattered rear window at 4:43 a. m., but their investigation failed to show that anyone had entered the building. Nothing was missing.

Officers believe the would-be burglar may have been scared away by the approach of the cruiser.

C. of C. Office To Assist 'Christmas Basket' Planning

The Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce again will act as a "clearing house" for Christmas baskets to be given to needy families.

At a meeting of C. of C. directors Monday night plans were made for a meeting at 10 a. m. Friday in the Chamber offices to which representatives of organizations and churches which customarily distribute baskets as well as representatives of welfare agencies are invited.

William Stoughton, C. of C. manager, pointed out that the Chamber will in no sense rule on the need of individual families but is interested only in helping prevent duplications and seeing that deserving homes are not overlooked.

IN OTHER action, the board selected the format for a new brochure which will be used in the Chamber's work of promoting Washington C. H. as a potential industrial site and as an attractive residential city. Five thousand copies of the brochure, to be printed in colors, will be ordered.

Featured in the new brochure will be a presentation of the new Master Plan with its suggestions for future development of the community.

Both the present map of Washington C. H. and the Master Plan map are on file in the C. of C. office where they are available for inspection at any time.

IT WAS pointed out that new promotional signs on the city's outskirts will be erected soon. The signboard at the east limits probably will be erected within the next 10 days, but a site for the one at the west limits is yet to be selected. The signs will follow the "Friendly City" theme used in the past.

A report on the newly organized Industrial Development Corp., which is to have a capitalization of approximately $200,000, was presented to the Chamber directors.

The corporation charter has been received from Columbus, and stock certificates have been ordered in anticipation of the first offering of shares around the first of the year.

The board selected Thursday night, June 6, for its annual meeting at Washington Country Club. Plans to secure an outstanding speaker already are under way.

The board also urged citizens of Fayette County to support the special Red Cross Hungarian relief drive now in progress here. Fayette County's quota is $628.

Walter Morrow, chairman of the Fayette Highway Committee, reported that his panel is keeping in close touch with the Ohio Department of Highways, and indicated that major road relocations which might effect Fayette County still are in only preliminary discussion stages.

Window Broken At Warehouse

A break-in at the Central Grocery Co., 208 E. Market St., got no further than a broken window at the back of the warehouse early Tuesday.

Patrolmen, making their usual night patrol through the alleys, found the shattered rear window at 4:43 a. m., but their investigation failed to show that anyone had entered the building. Nothing was missing.

C. of C. Office To Assist 'Christmas Basket' Planning

The Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce again will act as a "clearing house" for Christmas baskets to be given to needy families.

At a meeting of C. of C. directors Monday night plans were made for a meeting at 10 a. m. Friday in the Chamber offices to which representatives of organizations and churches which customarily distribute baskets as well as representatives of welfare agencies are invited.

William Stoughton, C. of C. manager, pointed out that the Chamber will in no sense rule on the need of individual families but is interested only in helping prevent duplications and seeing that deserving homes are not overlooked.

IN OTHER action, the board selected the format for a new brochure which will be used in the Chamber's work of promoting Washington C. H. as a potential industrial site and as an attractive residential city. Five thousand copies of the brochure, to be printed in colors, will be ordered.

Featured in the new brochure will be a presentation of the new Master Plan with its suggestions for future development of the community.

Both the present map of Washington C. H. and the Master Plan map are on file in the C. of C. office where they are available for inspection at any time.

IT WAS pointed out that new promotional signs on the city's outskirts will be erected soon. The signboard at the east limits probably will be erected within the next 10 days, but a site for the one at the west limits is yet to be selected. The signs will follow the "Friendly City" theme used in the past.
